U.S.-Soviet Encounter Staved Off

Assembly Opens After Big 4 Powers Reach Agreement

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. General Assembly launched its fall session Tuesday after the Big Four powers agreed in dramatic down-to-the deadline negotiations to head off a U.S.-Soviet collision over peacekeeping assessments.

Tension eased in the big blue and gold assembly hall as Secretary - General U Thant announced that in consultation with him a formula had been devised to permit the world organization to proceed with noncontroversial business.

He said he undertook negotiations "for the sole purpose of avoiding a confrontation."

The agreement paved the way for more U.S.-Soviet negotiations on basic issues involved in the U.N. financial crisis. The next round will take place Wednesday when U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk meets again with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

Ghanian Elected President

Quickly the Assembly named Alex Quaison-Sackey of Ghana as its new president — the first black African to head the body.

Carlos Sosa - Rodriguez of Venezuela, the retiring president, announced that Quaison-Sackey was the only candidate and that if there was no objection he would be declared the president.

Nobody objected — and applause rocked the assembly hall.

Similarly the Assembly admitted three new members—Malta, Malawi and Zambia—and boosted the U.N. membership to 115. The U.N. started with 51 members in 1946.

Representing the Big Four powers in the talks with Thant in his 38th floor suite were U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson, Soviet Ambassador Nikolai T. Fedorenko, British Minister of the State Lord Caradon and French Ambassador Roger Seydoux.

Soviet Threatened Walkout

Present also were Quaison-Sackey and Sosa - Rodriguez; Algerian Ambassador Tewfik Bouattoura, and El Salvador Ambassador Alvarez Vidaurre.

They staved off a U.S.-Soviet confrontation over application of Article 19 of the U.N. Charter which says that any country two years in arrears on its assessments shall lose its Assembly vote.

The Soviet Union and six other Communist countries are two years behind on peacekeeping assessments, and the United States took the position that if a situation arose demanding a vote the article must be applied.

This evoked a threat from the Soviet Union to walk out of the Assembly if it was deprived of its vote. Both the Soviet Union and France, which will be two years behind on Jan. 1, contend that peacekeeping assessments were illegal because they were approved by the Assembly instead of the Security Council.

Strategy In The Cabinet Room

President Johnson talks in the cabinet room at the White House with Defense Secretary Robert McNamara at the end of a two and a half hour conference on the conduct of the anti-Communist war in South Viet Nam. Also in attendance were Secretary of State Dean Rusk, left, and Maxwell Taylor, right, the U. S. ambassador to South Viet Nam. (AP Photofax)

Gen. Taylor Will Consult With Saigon

North Viet Using "Neutral" Laos To Support Reds

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson ordered Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor Tuesday to consult urgently with South Viet Nam on measures to "improve" the war effort against continuing and increased North Vietnamese support of the Communist Viet Cong through Laos.

The presidential directive was broad enough in its scope to step up the fighting within South Viet Nam. And it did not rule out other measures, including air strikes against North Vietnamese supply routes and personnel in Laos' mountainous jungles.

The White House issued a 400-word statement following a 2½ hour meeting between Johnson and his top advisers, including: Secretary of State Dean Rusk; Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara; John McCone, director of the Central Intelligence Agency; and Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Johnson again stated that it is basic U.S. policy to provide "all possible and useful assistance to the South Vietnamese people and government in their struggle to defeat the externally supported insurgency and aggression being conducted against them."

"Accumulating Evidence"

In more forceful terms than any used heretofore, the White House statement focused on what it termed "the accumulating evidence of continuing and increased North Vietnamese support of the Viet Cong and of North Vietnamese forces in, and passing through, the territory of Laos in violation of the Geneva accords of 1962."

The accords brought about the neutralization of Laos.

The reference to North Vietnamese forces passing through Laos significantly did not state their destination, but laid the basis for further action if these forces are engaging in the South Viet Nam fighting.

The State Department has said repeatedy in the past that there has been substantial infiltration from North Viet Nam, although there has been no reports of North Vietnamese army units fighting as units in South Viet Nam.

In instructing Taylor to consult with the South Viet Nam government, Johnson told him to consider "measures that should be taken to improve the situation in all its aspects."

Political Situation Touchy

The White House statement did not seek to place any rosy glow on the Viet Nam situation.

It said the political situation is still difficult, with the new government of Prime Minister Tram Van Huong making a determined effort to strengthen national unity and maintain law and order.

Taylor said the problems of security have mounted in recent months in the northern province of South Viet Nam and progress elsewhere in the country is "uneven."

It also reported, Taylor said, that commerce is being disrupted by Viet Cong interference with communication routes. Recent typhoons and floods destroyed a large percentage of crops and livestock in the devastated area.

On the more optimistic side, he said the improved recruiting and conscription has bolstered the strength of the South Viet Nam armed forces.

The Vietnamese air force, equipped by the United States, has increased almost 100 per cent in combat strength.

Kickback 'Bag Man,' Reynolds Testifies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bible-quoting Don B. Reynolds told Senate investigators Tuesday that he was the "bag man" in a $25,000 political kickback involving Bobby Baker and Philadelphia contractor Matthew H. McCloskey.

Reynolds, a Maryland insurance agent, testified at a stormy hearing of the Senate Rules Committee that he received $10,000 for his role in what he described as "a coverup" transaction.

"It was given to me for being the bag man," he said.

Reynolds took the stand at an open hearing after appearing before the committee in closed session and introducing some new angles into the case which are being kept secret until they have been checked out by committee investigators.

McCloskey, former ambassador to Ireland and Democratic fund raiser, has denied any knowledge of what Reynolds says was an extra $35,000 payment on the premium of a performance bond.

Reynolds said he acted as broker for the bond after McCloskey's firm won the contract for a $17 million District of Columbia Stadium.

The charge that $35,000 was added to the bill, and that $25,000 of this was channeled through Baker into the 1960 Kennedy - Johnson campaign fund was aired in a Senate speech Sept. 1 by Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del. The Senate ordered a reopening of the dormant Baker hearings.

Reynolds was the first witness at the reopened inquiry. He testified the arrangements were discussed in his presence by Baker and McCloskey at a 1959 breakfast. One of the other guests was former President Harry S. Truman, Reynolds said, but Truman was not present during the alleged payoff discussion.

Reynolds once was a business partner of Baker, former secretary to the Senate's Democratic majority who is slated to testify later this week. At one point Reynolds testified Baker told him he'd "better be quiet" about the alleged payoff, quoting Baker as saying "I've talked to Jordan and I have access to what the committee has."

Sen. B. Everett Jordan, D-N.C., the committee chairman, broke in angrily and said:

"That's a lie. I've never talked to Bobby Baker except when he was appearing as a witness before this committee."

During another exchange Sen. Carl Curtis, R-Neb. accused L. P. McLendon, special counsel to the committee, of trying to discredit Reynolds' testimony.

"I'm after the truth," McLendon retorted.

Reynolds pulled out a Bible and opened it, saying:

"I refer the committee to read the 32nd verse of St. John and stop using semantics to misinterpret what I say."

He explained later he referred to the 8th chapter, 32nd verse, which says:

"And ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free."

Reynolds protested several times that "you have to understand what I mean inside of me" to understand his testimony.

He said he actually never knew whether any of the $25,000 went into any campaign fund. Although the money originally was described to him as for the presidential fund, he said he understood later that $10,000 of

Records Fall As Icy Blasts Strike South

By The Associated Press

Winter struck the South with icy winds and record-snapping cold Tuesday, giving a seasonal feeling to Christmas shopping after a very pleasant Indian summer.

Cold weather gripped the nation from the Rockies eastward. Up to eight inches of snow fell in Maine as New England was belted by gale winds and its worst cold of the season.

Readings Monday ranged from 12 below zero at Pellston, Mich., to 61 degrees at Key West, Fla.

Coastal Alabama and northern and central Florida got freezing weather.

At Mobile, Ala., the temperature was 24, the lowest Dec. 1 reading in seven years. It was 32 in Tampa, Fla., another record low for the date. It was near freezing in the Everglades.

Florida farmers and citrus growers were glad to get the cold, dry winds because they helped firm up and sweeten oranges, tangerines and grapefruit. It helped combat fungus and insects bred by unusually warm November weather.

New Orleans had a low mark of 29, three degrees less than its previous minimum for the date in 1896. Nashville, Tenn., recorded a low of 16, coldest Dec. 1 since 1877.

High winds and snow flurries came with the cold in South Carolina where the lowest reading was 10 degrees at Caesars Head. Walhalla had 11 and Anderson 13.

Rifle Fire Hits Landing B52s

DAYTON, Ohio (UPI) — An Air Force spokesman said Tuesday night somebody had fired rifle shots into its B52 Strategic Air Command bombers and other planes as they went in for a landing at nearby Wright-Patterson Air Force Base.

The spokesman declined to give details. But he indicated an investigation was being made on the grounds somebody in the area was disturbed by low flying planes at night and had opened fire on the huge jet planes.

The spokesman said nobody had been injured in the shootings.

Several planes had been nicked by rifle fire from the ground, the spokesman said, but damage had been slight. He declined to say how many planes had been hit.

The shootings occurred during a period of time but there has not been any shootings in recent weeks, the spokesman said.

Air Force officials said the FBI was investigating.

Saigon Charges Reds Supported By Cambodians

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Cambodian frontier forces have joined the Communist Viet Cong again in attacks on South Vietnamese troops, the South Viet Nam Defense Ministry charged Tuesday. It announced four Vietnamese soldiers were killed in two such border incidents Monday.

The shooting developed in Chau Doc Province, 110 miles west of Saigon, a week in advance of the scheduled opening of U.S.-Cambodian talks in New Delhi, India, about frontier hostilities that have left scars on both sides.

The Defense Ministry announced these details:

Communist guerrillas supported by 100 Cambodian soldiers hit a Vietnamese patrol moving about 100 yards from the border. Mortar fire from the Cambodian side killed three of the Vietnamese and wounded one. The guerrillas and the Cambodians withdrew when Vietnamese reinforcements arrived 20 minutes later.

In the same area, four Cambodian patrol boats moved up a canal and blasted a Vietnamese outpost, killing one of its garrison.

Red China, aware that President Johnson was discussing war policy with U.S. Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor and key advisers in Washington, warned it would fight in the event of "U.S. imperialist aggression" against Communist North Viet Nam.

Pope Paul Departs For Bombay, India

ROME, Wednesday (UPI) — Pope Paul VI, bearing a message of Western faith and friendship to India's gateway of the East, left today for Bombay to attend a Eucharistic Congress.

The pontiff was reported to be in a mood of "prayer and expectation" as he left by commercial jetliner on the first leg of the 3,849-mile journey, longest ever undertaken by a reigning pontiff. After celebrating a midnight Mass in his private chapel, he was driven to Fiumicino Airport to board the Air India Boeing 707 jetliner.

The 67-year-old pontiff spent his final day here working on some of the 20 speeches he will deliver during the three-day visit to India, where massive security precautions were set in motion.

The Pope also will deliver personal messages to be radioed to the nations over which he flies. Similar messages were sent last year on his trip to the Holy Land.

A score of Vatican officials and 90 regular passengers, most of them newsmen, traveled with the Pope.

The jetliner scheduled a 30-minute refueling stop in Beirut, Lebanon. It was explained that the crash scene of a last week's Trans World Airlines (TWA) jetliner disaster at the Rome airport in which 48 persons were killed forced a temporary shortening of the runway and all planes had to leave with only partially-filled fuel tanks.

Thousands of Lebanese Catholics and a number of government officials jammed the Beirut Airport. Heavy security precautions were taken as the papal stopover took on the air of a state visit.

Although the lack of a full load of fuel was given for the Beirut stop, Vatican observers speculated that the visit might also be aimed at pacifying Arab Nations which were incensed over the Vatican Ecumenical Council's action on a document about Jews less than two weeks ago.

Crippled Russ Rocket Pursues Mariner In Race Toward Mars

MOSCOW (AP) — A Soviet rocket was off Tuesday in pursuit of the U.S. Mariner 4 on a 7½-month flight to the planet Mars.

The Soviet probe, dubbed Zond 2 — Probe 2 — started its flight Monday from an orbiting space platform.

The Soviet news agency Tass said radio contacts indicated the instrument-laden rocket's power supply was about 50 per cent impaired.

Contact was lost with the Soviet Mars probe, launched Nov. 1, 1962, for similar reasons.

The gloomy outlook for Zond 2 was accented by the restrained treatment given the space probe by Soviet propaganda organs.

Tass normally carries comments by scientists and other specialists on such occasions. There was none this time.

The government paper Izvestia published only the bare communique on the launching, without comment.

The American probe Mariner 4, launched Saturday, was slated to televise pictures of Mars when it passes the planet next July.

Zond 2's reduced power supply would make radio and television contact with earth virtually impossible if it reaches the planet.

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Mars-bound Mariner 4 raced through space Tuesday well ahead of a crippled Soviet rocket and U.S. scientists pondered just when to trigger an extra burst of speed later in the seven-month flight.

Mariner 4, launched Saturday with cameras designed to take the best pictures yet of the reddish planet's mysterious surface, was 599,559 miles from earth at noon (PST) Tuesday, streaking along at 7,193 miles an hour.

The Soviet probe, Zond 2, started its flight Monday from an orbiting spacecraft.

But the Russians reported their power supply was about 50 per cent impaired.

"If the power supply is only half what they planned, Zond 2 is in real trouble," said Dr. William Pickering, director of Jet Propulsion Laboratory, which built and is guiding Mariner 4 on its 325 million-mile journey.

Pickering and other scientists began studying the best time to fire a small rocket aboard Mariner 4 designed to curve the spacecraft closer to Mars, altering its trajectory from a 200,000 mile miss to a fly-by at a distance of 8,600 miles.

Hoover Tells King Slaying Arrests Near

WASHINGTON (UPI) — FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover expects arrests to be made within the next few days in connection with the slaying of three civil rights workers in Mississippi, the Rev. Martin Luther King said Tuesday.

King said Hoover told him of the impending arrests during a meeting they held Tuesday at the Negro leader's request. The two talked for more than an hour.

Other sources indicated that as many as 10 or 11 persons may be arrested, including some "in official capacities."

King requested the conference with Hoover in the wake of a verbal feud between the two, highlighted by Hoover's statement at a press conference that King was the "most notorious liar in the country."

King said, "It was a very friendly discussion.

"He indicated that there would be arrests in the next few days in connection with the killing of the three civil rights workers in Mississippi."

Last week, the FBI said officially that it knew the killers in the Philadelphia slayings and that "intensive investigation is continuing to develop the case for prosecution as soon as possible."

King had charged the lack of the arrests in Philadelphia and elsewhere showed lack of FBI protection of Negroes in the South.

The three civil rights workers were Andrew Goodman, 20, of New York; Michael Schwerner, 24, of Brooklyn, N. Y., and James Chaney, a 21-year-old Negro of Meridian, Miss. Their bodies were found in a grave near Philadelphia about two months after they were last seen alive. All three had been shot.

Troops Rescue 150 More Congo Rebel Hostages

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—White mercenaries have rescued more than 150 Belgian and Greek hostages of the Communist-backed Congo rebels in a cotton-growing area of the northeastern Congo.

Fifty-eight were flown to safety in Leopoldville Tuesday. They included 18 women and 12 children. One baby was born while her mother was a prisoner of the rebels.

Reports from Stanleyville, the former rebel capital, said that mopping up was still going on and that government troops were trying to flush out hidden rebel snipers.

A rebel report published in Khartoum, Sudan, said the rebels recovered Stanleyville radio and the Sabena airline guesthouse across the street from the airport building.

U.N. officials are trying to bury some of the hundreds of corpses remaining in the streets of Stanleyville. They fear that the decomposing bodies may start epidemics.

Other reports said the former rebel stronghold of Kindu, recaptured in early November by mercenaries, is once again threatened by the rebels.

Kindu, about 250 air miles south of Stanleyville, was the main supply dump of the government troops as they drove for the rebel capital. There are still large stocks of ammunition there.

Reports reaching Leopoldville from Kindu said the handful of foreigners still in the town had asked to be evacuated and that there was increased rebel activity on the outskirts.

There are less than a score of Belgian mercenaries in Kindu to stiffen the Congolese army garrison there. But one Belgian source said latest information reaching him indicated the town still was in government hands.

Parole Granted To Dave Beck, 70

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former Teamsters President Dave Beck, serving a five-year prison term for income tax fraud, Tuesday was paroled effective Dec. 11.

Beck, now 70, was ordered released by the federal parole board.

The board gave no reason for its decision. A Justice Department spokesman pointed out, however, Beck's advancing age and the fact he has been in prison since June 20, 1962.

Those factors are among other considered by the board when deciding on applications for parole, he said.

Beck was convicted in federal district court in Tacoma, Wash., Feb. 27, 1959, on charges of filing fraudulent income tax returns. He unsuccessfully appealed the conviction and began serving the sentence in 1962 at the federal penitentiary on McNeil Island off Tacoma.

Diaz Ordaz Becomes Mexican President

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Gustavo Diaz Ordaz took over the reins of government as president Tuesday with a pledge of peace and prosperity, plus a warning that he would not tolerate toying with Mexico's freedoms.

"Take note here and now," he said in his inaugural speech before about 3,000 persons in the Palace of Fine Arts, that Mexico knows how to act against those "who, with deliberate perversity, demand their rights so as to violate the rights of others, who invoke the constitution only to tread on the constitution, who pretend to take refuge in freedom only to end all freedoms."

De Gaulle Gives Congo Premier Reassurances

PARIS (UPI) — President Charles de Gaulle told Premier Moise Tshombe Tuesday France opposed any foreign intervention that might jeopardize Congolese independence, informed sources said.

De Gaulle, in an hour-long talk with Tshombe, was understood to have agreed to step up French technical and cultural assistance to the Congo.

Tshombe told newsmen after the meeting he was "highly satisfied" with the talk. He said it ranged over many subjects, including French-Congolese cooperation.

"De Gaulle is for us a great man," Tshombe said. "France has only one wish—to see us independent."

Diplomatic sources said De Gaulle's insistence that the Congo must be fully independent reflected his coolness to all types of external intervention in the mineral rich African nation.

De Gaulle, who opposed the U.N. peace operation in the Congo and refused to pay France's assessed share, also may have had in mind the recent Belgian-American rescue operation in the Stanleyville area, reports of Communist Chinese arms supplies for the Congolese rebels, and threats by some African nations to aid anti-Tshombe insurgents militarily.

Tshombe also conferred with Raymond Triboulet, minister for cooperation with the 13 French-speaking African nations and Madagascar, on details of new French technical aid plans.

Triboulet said afterward "it was very likely" France would send Tshombe some experts to help reorganize the Congolese civil service.

De Gaulle was understood to have turned down any suggestion of sending a military training mission to Leopoldville. Any French training of the Congolese army might come only after the Congo had regained internal peace, informants said.

Hagerstown Settles Suit For $440,000

HAGERSTOWN (AP) — The city of Hagerstown has agreed to a $440,000 settlement of its damage suit against three manufacturers of electrial equipment, Mayor Winslow Burhans said Tuesday.

Burhans disclosed the settlement as attorneys prepared resumption of the Washington trial of the case brought by the city against General Electric Co., Westinghouse Electric Corp. and the Allis Chalmers Manufacturing Co.

The damage suit was among hundreds of civil actions brought against electrial equipment manufacturers after they and others in their industry were convicted on criminal price-fixing charges.

Kickback

it was to go to "other political funds — or to Bobby."

Reynolds said all the details were handled by Baker, who served directly under Lyndon B. Johnson when Johnson was Democratic leader of the Senate.

Reynolds' story of how he added $35,000 to his bill for the premium on the performance bond was included in an affidavit signed by Reynolds last Aug. 18 and placed in the hearing record. It said:

"Sometime subsequent to this breakfast meeting which Bobby had arranged with Mr. McCloskey, Bobby telephoned me and told me that I should personally bill Mr. McCloskey and Bobby gave me instructions as to the amount. He said that I should direct the communication marked 'personal and confidential' to Mr. Matthew McCloskey. The amount given to me by Bobby was $109,205.60."

Reynolds said this was approximately $35,000 more than McCloskey's firm actually owed.

Under instruction from Baker, Reynolds said, he deposited $25,000 in a savings and loan account where "anyone snooping around would have one hell of a time locating it."

He said he handed it over to Baker in five cash installments of $5,000 each, after withdrawing it from the account in $100 bills.

Paratroops Welcomed Home By Belgian Ruler

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP)—Belgian paratroopers who dropped on the Congo came home to a mighty welcome Tuesday just as a fresh accusation cropped up that the United States had cut short the rescue mission.

Ten C-130 transport planes of the U.S. Air Force landed the 680 troops at Melsbroek military airfield, starting just before dawn.

After emotional greetings from relatives at the airport, the paratroopers paraded through Brussels before thousands of cheering citizens.

King Baudouin welcomed them at the airport and conferred a high rating decoration on both the paratroop commander, Col. Charles Laucent, and the commander of the American fliers, Col. Burgess Gradwell of Oneida, N.Y.

While the planes and the paratroopers were still flying in, a Belgian politician, Antoine Saintraint, landed at Brussels civil airport from the Congo and aimed criticism of America's role in the Congo operation.

Saintraint, who said he went into Stanleyville soon after the paratroopers got there, told newsmen:

"The Americans in Leopoldville wanted the operation to be continued. They made us understand that they were prevented from doing this by their superiors in the U.S."

Juan Peron Reported South America-Bound

MADRID, Wednesday (UPI)—The semi-official Spanish news agency Cifra reported that former Argentine dictator Juan D. Peron left here early today for South America. Official sources refused to confirm the departure.

Earlier press dispatches from Madrid said Peron was to leave shortly for Uruguay en route to Argentina.

Aid Challengers Will Get Church College Report

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — An Anne Arundel County Circuit Court judge ruled Tuesday that Notre Dame College of Maryland must turn over a confidential self-evaluation report to a group challenging state aid to church supported colleges.

The 12 Maryland residents are contesting the constitutionality of a Maryland law under which Notre Dame and three other colleges received grants of $2.5 million to use in constructing buildings.

Melvin J. Sykes, one of three lawyers for the 12 Marylanders, told Judge O. Bowie Duckett that the report, which was prepared for accreditation purposes "is a detailed discussion of the heart of this case — just what is the relationship between Notre Dame and the Catholic Church."

The college had refused to turn over the report, saying it was confidential. It was prepared for the Middle States Association, an organization which accredits Notre Dame.

However, Duckett said if the college is going to seek state funds, then it must be prepared to produce its records when challenged.

Sykes spent all day Tuesday reading into the record masses of information about Notre Dame and its religious ties from college publications and records.

He indicated he had finished with Notre Dame, except for the evaluation report, and would begin presenting evidence Wednesday concerning Hood College, a school in Frederick, connected with the United Church of Christ.

In addition to Hood and Notre Dame, the suit names St. Joseph's College, a Catholic school and Western Maryland, a Methodist college.

It contends that the granting of tax funds to the schools violates both the Maryland and federal constitutions.

The suit applies only to the Maryland law, but a federal program which provides funds for college construction is very similar to the Maryland law, and a number of other states have similar programs.

The funds were appropriated by the General Assembly for science, dormitory and dining facilities at the four colleges.

Lawyers for the 12 plaintiffs and the Horace Mann League, an organization which seeks to promote public schools and is involved in the suit, are attempting to show that the colleges are aligned with religious bodies and that the grants amount to public support of religious activities.

The state and the colleges are contending that the money is being used only for educational purposes and that the grants serve the public good.

Five Sisters Perish When Home Burns

VERSAILLES, Ky. (UPI) — Five of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Spencer's six daughters were burned to death Monday night when fire destroyed their tenant home on a Kentucky blue grass farm.

The sixth daughter, Patricia Ann, 13, was in serious condition at a Lexington, Ky., hospital with burns over 25 per cent of her body.

The parents also escaped, carrying to safety with them a five-week-old baby, their only son.

Coroner Dorsey Clark identified the dead children as Shirley Regina, 12; Bertie Lynn, 10; Sheila Ruth, 6; and twins, Teresa and Tracy, 4.

Poor Preparation Of Teachers Blamed For Below-Par English Instruction

By G.K. HODENFIELD
AP Education Writer

CLEVELAND (AP)—Critics by the score charge that the teaching of English in the schools is disgracefully bad. The National Council of Teachers of English is in emphatic agreement.

The outside critics present their case in generalities. The council documents its indictment with up-to-date facts and figures.

"We're not proud of the situation," sayd Dr. Albert R. Kitzhaber, immediate past - president of the council. "We know the appalling state of English instruction in this country better than anyone else.

"The difference is, we're trying to do something about it."

Kitzhaber, a professor of English at the University of Oregon, said the major problem is the poor preparation of teachers at all levels—in grade school, high school and college.

"There are many other factors, of course," Kitzhaber said last week during the council's annual convention here.

"English teachers have too heavy a work load—some of them are supposed to teach 200 students a day. They haven't time to give students the individual instruction they need.

"The composition textbooks available in the high schools and junior highs are the worst in the schools.

"Parents tend to assume that every youngster is capable of a high level of achievement in composition - an assumption note made in any other subject.

"But the one main over-riding cause of poor English instruction is the poor preparation of teachers."

The high schools blame the grade schools and junior highs, and the colleges blame the high schools. But the ultimate blame, it would appear rests on the college.

"The colleges just haven't done the job of preparing teachers to teach writing," Kitzhaber said.

"They assume that the ability to teach writing comes naturally, or that it isn't worth teaching, or that it comes from teaching literature."

Kitzhaber pointed to these statistics, compiled and published by the council earlier this year:

—Only 50 per cent of the high school English teachers majored in English in college.

—Of those English majors, only 39 per cent were expected to complete work in composition beyond that included in the standard freshman English course.

—Although instruction in English, and the language arts makes up 40 to 50 per cent of all elementary school education their college studies to that subject.

—About half the elementary teachers did not complete any organized study of language development, any review of the is wasted."

structure and nature of the English sentence, any methods of teaching writing and language to children.

Council documents also report the case of the English teacher in Pennsylvania who had 18 college hours of English—all 18 of them "D's."

"Two obvious statements can be made concerning the state of teaching English in elementary and secondary schools" the council reported. "A great deal of time is being spent on the matter, particularly in teaching grammar; and most of the time

But Kitzhaber sees better things ahead: "New textbook material is being worked out at 15 curriculum centers at universities across the nation, under the sponsorship of the U.S. Office of Education.

"The opening of English institutes under the revised National Defense Education Act can make a noticeable improvement in the preparation of teachers.

"There is national concern about the improvement of teaching English. We should see some good effects."

Kitzhaber said teacher-preparation institutions should upgrade their programs for future English teachers.

"They should write, but they also should study the theory of writing," he said.

"At least a freshman level course in logic would be advantageous.

"A serious study of English ought to be required — call it linguistics, grammar, or whatever. Even if a teacher has had a college course in grammar, there is no assurance it has been a good one."

Outlook For 89th Congress

EDITORS' NOTE:
The White House already is working on President Johnson's proposals for "the Great Society," and congressmen are at home waiting for the new session to start so they can do something — pro or con — about them. The outlook for the 89th Congress is reviewed in the following dispatch.

By NORMAN RUNNION

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Some time between now and next Jan. 4, President Johnson and his advisers will be putting plans for "the Great Society" on paper. For a long time after Jan. 4, Congress will be deciding what to do about them.

The 89th Congress, overwhelmingly Democratic convenes on that date. Later in that date. Later in the month, Johnson will go before a joint session to present his State of the Union address. He will outline the legislation he has in mind to fulfill his concept of a better society for all Americans.

Johnson has had various task forces working since before the election on the outlines of his "Great Society" proposals. So far, they have not been transmitted into concrete legislative suggestions. No one has any doubt, however, that they will.

To get them enacted, the President will be dealing with a House and Senate that have lop-sided Democratic majorities. There will be 38 more Democrats in the House than there were last Nov. 3, and two more Democratic senators. The line-up in the House is 295 to 140, and in the Senate, 68 to 32.

One theory is that with this kind of a majority, Johnson should be able to get what he wants, although history has shown that this is not always the case.

So far he has let it be known that he has put two bills on top of his legislative list — both left over from the 88th Congress. The first is Medicare, and the second is the Appalachia bill. The Appalachia proposal is Johnson's own. Medicare was outlined by John F. Kennedy.

Kennedy made Medicare — hospital and nursing home care for the aged under Social Security — one of his campaign themes in 1960, and submitted a bill when the 88th Congress opened up. It came closest to passage in the waning months of the last Congress.

Now, with such a huge majority of Democrats in the House, where Medicare has been bottled up before, chances of its passage appear good. House Democratic leader Carl Albert predicted recently that Medicare might be passed by next June.

Medicare got through the Senate this year, but failed, as usual in the House. It has been bottled up there in the Ways & Means Committee, whose chairman, Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., is afraid it might hurt the whole Social Security financing system.

However, Mills has said that he will bring the bill up for consideration early next year if Johnson so desires. Medicare backers claim he can read the election results as well as anyone.

Although Medicare has been hung up by firm opposition, this is not the case with the $1 billion bill to rejuvenate the poverty-stricken Appalachia area. It fell victim to the congressional surge for adjournment a month before the election. Johnson has told Albert and Speaker John W. McCormack that he wants early action on this.

After that, what?

Taxes — Johnson has announced he wants to reduce or abandon some of the $14.5 billion in excise taxes — a variety of levies on 75 items enacted during both World War II and the Korean War. First to go will be about $440 million in consumer excises on cosmetics, luggage, jewelry, furs and handbags.

Untouched will be taxes on alcohol, tobacco and gasoline, which account for about 70 per cent of the total $14.5 billion in excise revenue.

Outside of this, a probable increase in cash benefits for Social Security recipients is in the works. This would push the tax rate higher. At present, the payroll tax is 3⅝ per cent of a worker's first $4,800, with the employer matching the contribution.

Congress also will be asked to clarify the taxing power of the states and to take another look at the special status given non-profit public foundations.

Anti-Depression — The Appalachia bill tops this program. The legislation would authorize the spending of $1 billion or so to build roads and other public works necessary to open up the 11-state area to private economic development.

The congressional leadership now plans to tie this bill up with a renewed depressed areas program, which would spend $455 million for the economic development of cities and towns with high unemployment levels. There also will be more "accelerated public works" money sought. These are matching federal grants for local construction of water works, sewers, and other community needs.

Immigration — There will be pressure to change the nation's immigration laws. The administration idea is to start getting away from the 40-year-old system of quotas based on the national origins of people already living in America.

Agriculture — Farm legislation most likely will deal with continuing or patching up old farm-aid programs, and not with efforts to strike out in completely new directions. Johnson's package of farm bills is expected to include a plan under which farmers could draw federal payments for idling millions of acres of low-grade cropland.

Complicating all of this is the question of how Congress reads the election returns — whether it believes the people want more of everything, or whether they wanted to keep — not repeal — what they already had.

Bonn Plans To Make A-Arms, Soviets Say

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Kremlin charged Monday West Germany is preparing to manufacture its own atomic weapons.

The Communist party newspaper Pravda claimed the Bonn government was building up a stockpile of nuclear fuel and planned to multiply it by 10 to 15 times.

Pravda said West German participation in the proposed multilateral nuclear force would provide Bonn with atomic weapon models and samples.

Viet Buddhists Disillusioned With Leaders

By MALCOLM W. BROWNE

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Disillusionment appears to be growing among many devout Buddhists with the leadership of their faith.

"Vietnamese Buddhism is falling into the hands of self-interested politicians and the Viet Cong itself," one Buddhist said Monday. "Last year when we Buddhists rose up against Ngo Dinh Diem we were united and willing to give our lives. Now I am ashamed to be associated with what is going on."

The speaker was among hundreds of Buddhist faithful arrested in demonstrations against Diem.

A number of monks shun the Buddhist campaign now seeking to overthrow the Tran Van Huong government.

Correspondents in recent weeks have found many of the monks prominent in the 1963 turmoil missing from the current campaign.

Among them is Thich Duc Nghiep, a Soung monk who served as spokesman for the Buddhists then.

Duc Nghiep, who is studying at Columbia University in New York, told this correspondent last week:

"I am strongly against all demonstrations in Saigon now. Whatever their reason is they can only sap the central government and only a strong government can make Viet Nam survive.

"I have advocated the organization of mobile teams of Buddhist monks to tour the countryside to speak out against the Viet Cong. But this has not been done. We Buddhist refugees from North Viet Nam know what communism does to religion including our own."

Duc Nghiep, alone of the Buddhist monks who led the 963 rebellion, has been repeatedly attacked by Hanoi radio, which has urged Buddhists to throw him out of the leadership.

Premier Tran Van Huong says the Buddhist demonstrations have been organized largely by the Viet Cong. In a communique, the Saigon government said Buddhist demonstrations in 1963 called at first only for religious freedom and did not press for the overthrow of the Diem regime until late in the summer. This time antigovernment Buddhist demonstrations began with the installation of the Huong government.

Father Quizzed In Blaze Fatal To Seven Children

BALTIMORE (AP) — Seven brothers and sisters died in a fire which destroyed their East Baltimore home early Tuesday.

Five hours later, police arrested the children's father and booked him for investigation of arson while questioning him.

Four other children survived the pre-dawn fire. Their mother had been staying in another row house half a block away.

Police Sgt. William Rawlings of the Arson Squad said the father, Kennard A. Smith, 38-year-old truck driver, was arrested at a bar after he walked in and told the bartender to call police.

A homicide warrant charging Smith with "setting fire to the home at 2631 East Oliver Street, thereby causing the death of Vivian Smith," one of the children, was issued by Judge John A. McGuire of Municipal Court.

On the police docket, however, Smith was formally booked only for investigation of arson.

"I doubt he'll be charged today," said Police Capt. W. Robert Franck," Eastern District commander.

"He'll be charged later — when, we don't know. We'll interrogate him first."

The dead Smith children were Janet, 1; Gary, 2; Kevon, 4; Annette, 6; Timothy, 7; Darlene, 8, and Vivian, 13. Those who escaped were Kennard, 16; Antonio, 15; Andrea, 14, and Cynthia,11.

Smith's wife, Marian, 40, was staying with a neighbor half a block away. Court records showed the 40-year-old mother had sworn out a warrant against her husband last week charging him with assault by threatening.

Police said three cans partially filled with a fluid which smelled like gasoline were found on the second floor of the brick rowhouse.

Antonio told reporters he ran to the front door for help but someone standing outside "told me to get back into the house."

"I ran back into the house and tried to get out the back door, but the back porch was burning," the boy said.

"I ran down to the cellar and opened the cellar door in the back of the house. The steps were burning.

"Somehow, I was able to get through the flames. I don't know how the others got out of the house."

Arthur Melton, a neighbor, told police he saw the flames and heard the children screaming: "Our house is on fire! Our house is on fire!"

"All of a sudden," said Melton, "we heard the explosion and saw big balls of fire out the front and back windows. I don't believe the dead children ever woke up."

The Eiffel Tower in Paris was opened in 1889.

QUESTION — Kennard A. Smith, 38, a truck driver, is shown outside the Eastern District police station in Baltimore after his arrest in connection with a fire which took the lives of seven of his children. Police booked Smith for investigation of arson and obtained a homicide warrant charging him with setting fire to the home and causing the death of one of the children. (AP Photofax)

Maryland News In Brief

BALTIMORE (AP) — Mrs. Robert O. Bonnell of Baltimore has given up the post of Republican National Committeewoman for Maryland after six years.

The State Central Committee probably will name her successor at a special meeting Saturday.

VIENNA, Md. (AP) — A couple of deer hunters from Baltimore City got lost in the woods. Charles M. Fredericks, 42, and Michael L. Erickson, 28, spent 10 hours wandering around a cold marsh before they were found late Monday night.

BALTIMORE (AP) — The $2.3 million Mountain Road Expressway, reaching 3½ miles from Ritchie Highway to the Glen Burnie Bypass, will be opened to traffic before Christmas, Director John B. Funk of the State Roads Commission announced.

Funk said the highway, Maryland 177, would be a boon for Chesapeake Bay Bridge traffic traveling north from the Eastern Shore.

The opening is eight months ahead of schedule, Funk said, and "will be our Christmas present to the motoring public."

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Maryland Traffic Safety Commission urged motorists Tuesday to have their cars checked mechanically for the winter driving ahead.

Snow tires are a necessity and chains are best for severe winter conditions, the commission said. It also urged clearingiers the entire windshield of snow, not just a peephole, and said motorists should try to anticipate turns or speed changes, making them slowly.

FREDERICK (AP)—Dr. Dudley Peters Glick, a scientist at the U.S. Army's Fort Detrick here, died Tuesday at Fairfax County, Va., Hospital. He was 59.

A native of Asheville, Ohio, Dr. Glick received his AB, MA and PhD from Ohio State University.

At the time of his death, he was the technical director and chief of the Special Operations Division at Fort Detrick. He previously had worked for the Army at Longmount and Fort Collins, Colo., and Columbus, Ohio.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Urban Renewal Administration has awarded the Maryland National Park and Planning Commission a $1,258,178 grant for aid in purchase of 2,950 acres of land in Montgomery and Prince Georges counties, Rep. Carlton R. Sickles, D-Md., said Tuesday.

Sickles said $650,000 will be spent for land in the Upper Rock Creek area of Montgomery County. In Prince Georges County, $220,000 will be used to buy land for the Largo regional park, and $131,000 for the Henson Creek area.

Electrical Concerns To Open Suit Defense

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three manufacturers of electrical equipment are scheduled to begin their direct testimony Wednesday in a damage suit filed by Hagerstown, the state of Maryland and Burlington, Vt.

The trial, which began in early October, was in recess Tuesday following Judge John J. Siraca's rejection of opposing motions filed by attorneys for the three plaintiffs and the General Electric Co., the Westinghouse Electric Corp. and the Allis Chalmers Manufacturing Co.

Attorneys argued for and against the motions Monday, but Siraca dismissed them and scheduled the start of the manufacturers' defense testimony Wednesday.

The manufacturers had urged Siraca to declare a mistrial. The plaintiffs had moved for a directed verdict against the three companies without the case being sent to the jury.

BPW To Name Woman Of Year

"Half of the Fun of Christmas" is the theme of the annual dinner party of Cumberland Business and Professional Women's Club, to be at 7 p.m., December 8 at the Fort Cumberland Hotel. "What is Christmas" will be answered in poetry and prose by Miss Orpha Bonita Pritchard, Miss Mary Walsh, Miss Anna Durst, Mrs. Thelma Fatkin, Mrs. Effie True, Miss Anna Nicht and Miss Mary Jo Logsdon. Mrs. Eva Hogan, Mrs. Ethel Northcraft, Miss Helen Brautnick and Mrs. True will provide the musical background for Miss Logsdon's presentation. Miss Hilda Williams will accompany group singing of carols. Mrs. Ellen McKenzie will introduce the participants and Miss Edith Scharf will give the invocation.

Jingles will be exchanged and club members contribute money towards the Christmas project.

The party committee consists of Mrs. McKenzie, Miss Nell Hawkins, Mrs. True, Miss Williams, Mrs. Lillian Hast, Mrs. Northcraft, and Mrs. Blanch Mantell.

The club recently endorsed Miss Helen Beck, incumbent, for recording secretary of the state BPW, and elected Miss Orpha-Bonita Pritchard to serve on the state nominating committee which meets in Baltimore, February 27. It also supports the graduate-fellowships; and 'under God' in the pledge of allegiance, national BPW policy.

Valley Road Homemakers will have a luncheon at 12:30 today at St. Luke's Lutheran Church hall. Gifts are to be brought for the Victor Cullen Hospital.

Members of the Hap-O-Happy Club are to bring a jingle and food for a basket to the party Friday at 8 p. m., in Junior Order hall.

History House Open Dec. 4, 5

A special "open house" and the need to increase the membership were discussed at the monthly meeting of the board of Allegany County Historical Society, conducted by Howard Buchanan, chairman, Monday evening at History House.

As part of LaVale Century Club's Christmas Caravan, History House, 218 Washington Street, will feature a Victorian Christmas and be the setting for a contest of Victorian Christmas queens. Two contests, one for club members and the other for the Garden Club members will be decided by popularity vote and cash prizes will be awarded. The tour will be Friday from 1 until 7, for the benefit of the LaVale Library.

Mrs. William L. Wilson, society president, reported that to give persons unable to make the tour, an opportunity to see the Victorian decorations, History House will be open Saturday from 1 until 4. A slight charge will be made for the benefit of the society. Mrs. Lawrence Marks and Herman Miller will be hosts.

Reporting on the building improvements, Mr. Buchanan said they have been completed and paid. They include exterior woodwork painting and renovation of the roof and drainage system. Instead of increasing dues, it was decided to ask for contributions. It was stressed that an invitation is not necessary for membership and the public is urged to call either Mrs. Wilson, PA 2-3130, or Mr. Buchanan, PA 2-0650 for information.

Work of moving the "Military Room" and developing a "Transportation Room" were discussed. Acknowledgement was made of a contribution of carriage lamps by Mrs. Wilson and installation by Herman Miller. It was announced that Mr. Buchanan, James Bishop and Mr. Miller have been invited to present a program on the American home and local traditions, sponsored by the American Home group, for the Junior Woman's Civic Club meeting January 6.

Others attending the meeting were George F. Hazelwood, Mr. Bishop, Mr. Miller and Mrs. R. G. Burke, representing the Junior Woman's Civic Club, which has selected History House as its service project for the year.

The Past Matrons and Patrons Association, of Western Maryland, OES will hold its Christmas party tonight at the Frostburg Masonic Temple.

Meeting Canceled

Because of Christmas, the WSCS of Centenary Church canceled its December meeting. Mrs. Willetta Heavner presided. Mrs. Margaret Hardinger and Mrs. Heavner gave routine reports. The district conference and community day at Zion Church were discussed. Six members attended the latter. 330 visits were made to the sick.

Devotions were conducted by Mrs. Edith Nield. A Christmas program was presented by Mrs. Ada Stine, Mrs. Kyle Sawyers, Miss Mary Ella Growden and Mrs. Ruthella Fey. The group sang, "Away in the Manger," "Silent Night," "Hark the Angels Sing," "Joy to the World," and "Be Still My Soul." Mrs. Sawyers and Mrs. Nield sang, "Beyond the Sunset." Prayer was offered by Rev. Sawyers. A miniature nativity scene centered the table.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

J. R. P. Explodes Six Beauty Myths

What observation doesn't tell me, my mail does — that many women still make a number of misguided attempts at beauty and grace. Here are a few of the most common mistaken ideas with corresponding briefings on what is correct:

1. "The face should be scrubbed clean with a face cloth." No skin specialists ever agreed with this idea. Use a soft complexion brush or your fingertips to work soapy lather into your skin with gentle, rotating motions. Catch water in cupped hands and splash it on for rinsing.

2. "Ice is good for the face because it brings up the circulation." Never! You only risk rupturing the tiny blood vessels that lie close to the skin surface.

3. "Brushing spoils waves and curls." On the contrary, brushing encourages the set. Top hairdressers always arrange fresh hairdos with a brush, and so should you, every time.

4. "Brushing makes oily hair oilier." It may seem to after neglect because oil floating on the scalp is brought to the surface of the hair, but a faithfully followed program of proper brushing benefits oily hair as much as any other kind.

5. "Eye shadow should match the eyes." Quite the opposite is true. The most flattering color contrasts with the iris, gray or brown for blue eyes, brown or green eyes, blue or green for gray eyes, green or gray-blue for brown eyes.

6. "Correct walking places one foot exactly in front of the other, as if on a single straight line." This would take balancing-act precision and involves too much sway. Instead, move the feet on two parallel tracks two or three inches apart, toes pointing straight ahead.

John Robert Powers' charm guide, "Your Thirty Days to Charm," gives you a beauty hint for every day of the month. Follow it closely! Watch your charm rating rise. To get your copy send 10c and a stamped, return envelope to Mr. Powers, c/o this newspaper.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: It appears to be the style, in at least some circles, to be consistently late to parties, church, sports events — everything. In most instances it does not seem to matter an iota. Theater curtains are held, sermons delayed, the soup is kept warm until the slowpokes arrive on the scene thus penalizing the considerate and the punctual.

Am I wrong to feel it is rude and egotistical to be late unless there is an extremely good reason? Kindly comment on this. Also, if you have a "cure" for the snails I'd like to hear it.—J. C. F.

DEAR J. C. F.: It is egotistical and rude to arrive late unless an emergency caused the delay. The thoroughly disorganized and thoughtless (and neurotic) are beyond hope. But most folks WILL get there on time if courageous people refuse to cater to the tardy at the expense of the punctual.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a girl who is in the ninth grade. Our physical education teacher is very hard to get along with. I used to think it was my fault but I've tried awfully hard to do everything just right and things are not better. I'm beginning to think it's partly her fault.

We girls are supposed to run around the football field about four times. Then we are expected to take a shower, be out in three minutes, and line up in the nude so she can check us off.

Some of the girls do not like standing around in the nude and I am one of them. It is especially embarrassing to the freshman. We have talked to other girls who go to other schools and they don't have to do this.

We don't know if we have the right to complain or who to complain to. Will you guide us, please?—EMBARRASSED

DEAR EMBARRASED: I see no good reason why you girls can't line up and get checked out in your underwear.

Those of you who are uncomfortable about the arrangement (and I don't blame you) should ask your mothers to get together and talk to the gym teacher — or the principal.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: After 14 years of marriage, three children, two homes and six cars my husband got the idea I didn't know how to handle money and decided to take over "and show me how it's done."

It is now six months later and here is where we stand:

Gas and electric bills: two months overdue.

Grocery bill: no more credit — cash only.

Car payment: Thirty days late. Pay within 15 days or it's the bus for us.

Life insurance: Pay the last three premiums or we lose the policy.

Charity pledge: Unpaid.

All this seemed to hit us at once. When I asked what happened he accused me of taking money out of his wallet during the night. He knew better, of course.

Now that things are all fouled up he wants me to handle the family budget again. Shall I? Or would it be best to let him sweat it out?—LOOKING BETTER ALL THE TIME

DEAR LOOKING BETTER: For heaven's sake, Lady, this isn't HIS problem, it's yours, too.

Get back in there and get things squared away. Your husband should not be ashamed that you do a better job of handling money than he does. Most wives do. And I don't want to hear any beefs on this from my male readers. It's the beautiful truth, Boys.

Do you lean on cigarettes as a social crutch? You may regret it later. Send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Teen-age Smoking," enclosing with your request 10c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Pope Will See Mrs. Ghandi

BOMBAY, India (UPI) — Information Minister Mrs. Indira Gandhi, daughter of the late Premier Jawaharlal Nehru, will be one of the few persons to be received in audience during Pope Paul VI's visit to Bombay.

"For me it will be a great honor to have an audience with the Holy Father," Mrs. Gandhi said.

"I am very happy the Pope is coming," she said. "Of course, it is a wonderful thing for the Catholic community and for India in general it will be good. The Pope will be able to see for himself there is complete freedom of worship in our country."

Woman To Woman

By PATRICIA McCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI)—Take an empty chlorine bleach bottle, the plastic type, add some imagination and you're on the way to making simple and inexpensive Yule presents.

The bottle-craft fad first gained popularity when the Clorox bureau of bleaching information put out a kit showing how to make piggy banks out of the empty white bottles.

Den mothers, shut-ins, sportsmen, gardeners, women's club program directors, amateur interior decorators and homemakers deluged the bureau with additional ideas—ranging from bait buckets to bird feeders.

In addition to the bottle and imagination, you need a sharp cutting knife or single-edged razor, grease pencil, india ink or one of the new felt-tipped marking pens.

Use the latter when painting designs. Enamel, spray, nail polish, swatches of wallpaper, sequins and felt scraps add decoration.

Here are a few directions for a few simple holiday gifts fashioned the bottle-craft way.

—Santa decoration. Cut the bottle just below the top of the center section. Paint on features —eyes, nose, mouth. Make a cap of paper or felt and glue in place. Use cotton for eyebrows, mustache, and beard, and to trim the hat.

—Bird feeder. Cut a half-gallon or gallon bottle to desired height. Turn the bottom end up and cut entrance hole. Punch one small hole below entrance and another on opposite side. Run a stick through the holes for perch. Make one-half inch slits one inch apart all around the edge of the open end. Fold alternate taps inside out; nail the outside tabs to a board. If you want your feeder to stand on poles, attach an old mop handle to the bottom of the just hang it on the limb of a board with brackets. Otherwise, just hang it on the limb of a tree.

—Multi-purpose holder for sewing supplies, hair curlers, pencils, shell or rock collections. Cut the top off the bottle and decorate the sides with strips of colored paper, felt or wallpaper. To personalize same, add initials or first name.

—Utility bucket or sand pail. Cut a gallon-size bottle ¼-inch above the center section. Punch holes on opposite sides a half-inch below the rim. Insert holes and knot inside. If you choose, you can make a wire handle by bending a coat hanger and running it through the holes.

Royal Visit Planned

LONDON (UPI) — Princess Margaret and her husband, the Earl of Snowdon, will visit Uganda next March at the invitation of Uganda Prime Minister Milton Obote, it was announced from Kensington Palace Monday.

WORK FOR HOME AND STORE—Aleksandar Rusimovic, 35, with his daughter, Radmila, 9 (right), and son, Radovan, 12, open their sidewalk shoeshine shop near Times Square in New York to earn money to pay for a new home and to replace the confectionery business they lost in their homeland, Yugoslavia, when they fled the Communists. Keeping Justice In The Daylight

Dean Griswold of the Harvard Law School has expressed concern that prejudicial notoriety in cases such as the Kennedy tragedy may deprive defendants of the fair trial guaranteed all men under the U.S. Constitution. New Jersey has moved to limit the area of pre-trial comment and enjoined law enforcement agencies against premature disclosures of complicity.

Yet any conclusions as to the propriety of trial publicity must properly be viewed against the broad perspective of the free society and the broader imperatives of human justice. The public trial is the ultimate assurance against arbitrary outrage.

The institution of habeas corpus, as Winston Churchill has expressed it, is the crucial distinction between civilization and tyranny. It is the guarantor of an open arraignment, under rules protecting both the individual and society.

To keep the matter in focus one need only reflect on the insupportable alternatives of despotic states, where men accused of crime or even of non-conformity simply disappear behind the curtain of silence. Let no anxiety over errors of judgment obscure the central fact that trial in public view is a basic tenet of freedom.

These Days

By John Chamberlain

A Chance To Throw Dice

The other night I sat in with an earnest group of businessmen, representatives of a big national corporation with many branch plants, and some political pros who represented at least a couple of shades of the losing cause on November 3. The businessmen were puzzled. They were conservatives first and Republicans second, and not one of them regarded himself as an extremist. They wanted to know what they could do to advance their philosophy, preferably through the Republican Party. So they grilled the pros, and some of the answers they got were disconcerting.

One of the pros, who had been for Goldwater on a qualified basis (he thought the acceptance speech at San Francisco should have held out an olive branch for the Scrantonites), gave the businessmen a sharp rundown on the difference between Democratic and Republican problems of organization. The Democrats, he said, depend on organized labor for continuous help, and they can get the support they need from workers who go on living in the same community year after year. This enables the Democrats to dig in at the precinct level. Their men are trained, they can count on steady advancement in the organization, and they are subject to the discipline of good soldiers.

The businessmen, so the pro said, used to have the same sort of solid relationship to the Republican Party that labor now has with the Democrats. They took an interest in the local community, they could be counted on for financial support, and they supplied the party with workers who were willing to do the menial jobs of bell ringing, telephoning and the dissemination of literature. But, said the pro, all this was some time ago. Business, he told the executives in a sentence that struck home, is now organized on a national basis. The average junior executive who might be expected to do party work in behalf of a conservative philosophy now seldom stays more than a few years in one place. He will be in Ohio during one election year, in New Jersey the next time around, and in North Carolina after that. He won't be able to dig in at any precinct level forming enduring ties with people who stay put year after year in the same community.

The pro, who is himself a small businessman when he is not running for political office, pointed to the particular medium-sized city he knows best. Westinghouse and General Electric men come and go in that city, usually living well outside it in a suburban area. The favored few eventually wind up in far-off Pittsburgh or Schenectady. Others find a final haven in Philadelphia or Lynn, Mass. But in no case do they have a real opporunity to become effective in the older traditions of politics.

The pro was willing to admit that his party had been just as remiss as the businessmen in meeting the challenge of the new day. It is ridiculous, he said, to expect busy junior executives to get out and ring doorbells. He thought there should be some way of giving party advancement to attractive potential candidates without asking that they do their share of the menial labor of politics. He proposed, somewhat tentatively, that the businessmen form committees to back men who meet with their approval for specific congressional offices. There will be organizational vacuums in the next few years, he said, because of the coming congressional reapportionments. A businessman's committee that could work for two or four years to put over a candidate of its choice would soon commend itself to a state executive committee.

Another idea advanced was for a conservative counter organization to the leftists' Americans for Democratic Action. But nobody came up with a surefire formula for keeping such an organization out of the hands of extremists and kooks.

If nothing very definite came out of the meeting, it was at least significant that some earnest conservatives are resolved to do something effective in the 1966 congressional elections. And the meeting tossed up one memorable phrase. A pro spoke of his state executive committee as being the product of "a floating crap game"—meaning that if any group has money and "muscle" to put up for politics, it can begin throwing dice.

The Trampled Grave

What Will LBJ Do With The Asian Hot Potato?

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON—President Lyndon Johnson's decision about the agonizing Vietnamese problem will probably not be shouted from the housetops, but before very long the nature of the decision is bound to be revealed.

Some sort of novel action will be taken. Or we shall be told, as we have been told before, that the outlook in Vietnam is by no means all black; and nothing further will be done while the crisis goes from bad to worse. Such are the signs to watch for.

As these words are written, the informed betting is marginally better than even that additional, considerably sterner action against the Communist North Vietnamese will finally be ordered.

Yet the going odds of six-to-five on a positive decision are enough to indicate how much uncertainty still prevails on the very eve of the final choice. Furthermore, these odds can be decidedly misleading, unless the meaning of the word "action" is rather precisely defined.

For even if the President's decision is positive, he will still have to make a further choice between the different kinds of action now being urged by two factions of his advisors.

One group has been proposing what may be called tentative retaliation against North Vietnamese aggression, with the unspoken proviso that the United States can draw back again if the going gets too rough.

Another group has been advocating going in to win, with a full, preplanned program of phased, continually expanding effort to teach the North Vietnamese a badly needed lesson. The opening round would be about the same in both cases, to be sure; yet the difference of intention between tentative retaliation and going in to win can be very important indeed.

It can be so important because the true character of the President's decision to act will be extremely hard to conceal. Furthermore, if the smallest American weakness or tentativeness is detectable, the risks of action will at once be greatly increased.

If Hanoi, or Peking, or Moscow suspect that the President is not absolutely resolute, they will be encouraged to do things now, and to swear they will do even more terrible things later, in order to exploit the President's supposed irresolution. And the President will then have to choose between drawing back again — thus proving irresolute — or showing that he is really resolute by taking even grimmer steps than might otherwise have been necessary.

Even so, the advocates of going in to win look like combining with the advocates of tentative action, simply because a good many of them figure that if we start at all we shall not stop. Add that the President has also been careful to arm himself with all the arguments for doing nothing further in Vietnam, except trying to conceal a catastrophic defeat in Southeast Asia behind a thin smokescreen of negotiation.

These negative arguments have been provided, not only by some officials of the State Department, but also by the powerful Sen. Richard Russell of Georgia, who was invited to the Johnson ranch in Texas for that purpose.

Altogether, the impression is conveyed of the President approaching this decision as a man might approach a smorgasbord table, waiting to see how the herring salad, the meat balls and the cold cuts actually look on their plates before choosing between them. It is not the best way, perhaps, to approach a decision which is certainly the gravest the President has yet had to make, and probably the gravest he will ever make.

His final decision, of course, will be the real test. Meanwhile, it must be remembered that President Johnson is trying to cope with a world he never made, with the help of an administration he never made. President John Kennedy made the enormous, perhaps mistaken effort to be his own Secretary of State, and although Mr. Johnson makes no such effort, the administrative machinery is still designed to suit Mr. Kennedy's work habits.

In the world he never made, the Vietnamese crisis is also the most unhappy part of the President's inheritance. The fact remains, however, that Presidents are not judged by the nature of their inheritances, but strictly by what they do with them.

If defeat in Southeast Asia is accepted, it will only be the beginning of a chain reaction which will leave us nothing in the Pacific, in the end, of all that we fought for and won in World War II and in the Korean War. As the losses mount and are registered at home, the bitterness will mount proportionally. As President Harry Truman did in China, President Johnson now faces a situation in which taking action will be bad politics now, whereas inaction will be worse politics later on.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

RUSSIAN LEADERSHIP—Some foreign affairs experts in Washington are revising their thoughts on the change of top leadership in Russia. Curiously, a part of the revision adds up to a plus for the West and another part is a minus.

On the plus side, these observers are somewhat surprised at the lack of Russian citizen reaction to the deposing of Nikita Khrushchev. It was thought initially that Mr. K.'s activities and antics while a leader in the Kremlin had provided so refreshing a change from the tyranny of Josef Stalin that the Russian people had formed a sincere affection for him.

Had this proved to be the case, there was concern that the new regime, in its efforts to win support of the masses, might embark on some adventure that would not be in the best interests of the West. Usually, such adventures take the form of baiting capitalist countries — particularly the United States.

On-the-scene observers report back to Washington, however, that the Soviet people have shown no emotional involvement in the change and appear far less concerned with it than some of the Communist leadership in European satellite countries.

On the minus side, the apparent lessening of strain between Russia and Red China is causing real concern in Washington. The break between the two countries that began under Khrushchev and was pushed vigorously by him new appears to be moving toward a cooling-off period. If the two Red giants should make progress in healing their differences, it probably would spell increasing difficulties for the West over a period of time.

Congressman, Defeated, Will Take Official Junket To Asia Anyway

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Lame-duck Rep. William K. Van Pelt, R-Wis., has received a "going away" present from the House Space Committee — a junket to the Far East, accompanied by his wife.

To keep them company, Chairman George Miller, D-Calif., went along, plus three other committee colleagues, plus some top brass — namely, Lt. Gen. L. I. Davis of the Air Force, Edmond C. Buckley of the National Aeronautics and Space Agency, and Thomas F. Conlin of the State Department.

The wives of all these gentlemen, except Conlin's, went along — at their own expense — on the festive trip which covered half the globe. It started in Alaska, then jumped over to Tokyo, then went all the way to Australia and New Zealand with a stop at Manila en route. The party is returning by way of sunny Hawaii.

Those who accompanied Van Pelt on his "going away" tour are: Reps. Olin Teague, D-Tex., Bob Casey, D-Tex., and Joseph Karth, D-Minn.

Chances are that the men won't suffer from fatigue while inspecting space "tracking sites" in the Far East, which is the official purpose of the junket. For they can relax in the finest hotels and foreign embassies, also shopping centers, with the taxpayers footing most of the bills.

The junketeers return to the USA December 9, at which time Van Pelt, who was defeated in the November election, can go back to Wisconsin somewhat consoled by the farewell largesse of the Space Committee.

KKK And Mississippi Turkeys

Emmett Thornhill, the big Mississippi oil man, who phoned me to say he had renounced the Ku Klux Klan after it started bombing Negro homes and churches, did not respond to my suggestion that he join the Negro comedian, Dick Gregory, in raising money for 20,000 turkeys for Mississippians at Christmas.

I phoned him to extend the invitation personally. But Mr. Thornhill declined. He re-emphasized his denunciation of the Klan, for which he had once put up a lot of advertising money, and repeated his statement that he had never beat up Nigras or believed in beating Nigras.

However, I am glad to report that Sammy Davis Jr. is joining with Dick Gregory in holding a big benefit performance in McCormack Place, Chicago, December 20, to raise money for "Christmas for Mississippi" with the hope of sending 20,000 turkeys to that state, for both white and Negro citizens.

In Chicago, Mary Lou Hamer of the Democratic Freedom Party stated that during her 47 years she had eaten only one Christmas turkey and it had been paid for on the installment plan.

I can also report that many of the chain stores have responded generously to help relieve racial tensions in Mississippi through by-racial contributions of turkeys. Lou Stein of Food Fair responded immediately with a contribution of 1,000 turkeys. Emmanuel Cohen of the Giant stores was equally generous, as were Safeway and the Daitch-Shopwell chain in New York.

It looks as if the bombs of bigotry might be offset by Christmas dinners in the atmosphere of better understanding which Christ preached but which so many people have forgotten.

Note — Regarding ex-Klansman Thornhill, I find that the Municipal Court records of McComb, Miss., for September 1963 show Emmett Thornhill Sr. and his son paid fines of $150 and $50, respectively, for beating up with bladejacks Larry Rodgers, a Negro employe of a McComb motel. They alleged that Rodgers had made indecent telephone calls to Mrs. Thornhill Sr. Rodgers denied the charge but the judge gave him thirty days in jail.

Exit Mexican Ambassador

Mexico, which has intricate relations with the United States, makes it a practice to send outstanding ambassadors to Washington.

But seldom has it sent an ambassador with such understanding as Antonio Carrillo Flores, who now retires. He grew up in Brooklyn, sometimes starved in Brooklyn, where his father was a struggling musician with a large family to feed. That's how the ambassador came to know the United States so well. Its glamor, and its poverty, its splendor and its pain. That's also one reason he did such a good job for better understanding. Carrillo Flores will be missed in Washington.

Bomb-Torn McComb

The list of 650 residents of bomb-torn McComb, Miss., who signed a petition for law and order and equal treatment of Negroes is quite significant, not only because of the fact that they signed it but because of the names on the list.

One significant fact is that only six ministers of the Gospel signed the pledge, even though there are 29 churches in McComb.

Most of the signators are businessmen, many of them very small businessmen — barbers, plumbers, beauticians, painting contractors, small merchants, also lawyers, secretaries, and salesmen. The list represents a good cross-section of McComb.

Significantly, the leaders of this movement now hope to go about registering Negroes to vote — something which the freedom workers have not been able to do but which the leaders of the community obviously can do.

Note — The most courageous churches in Mississippi have been the Presbyterians and the Episcopalians. However, they are small in number compared with the Baptists and the Methodists which predominate.

No tourist ever forgets the city of Washington. And no two ever agree on what it is. The capital, unlike other cities, seems to assume part of its own character and part of the viewer's. I was standing with a friend on the Capitol steps. We compared notes. I saw the huge dome; he saw a steam shovel demolishing the slums behind the building.

Looking south, I saw the colonnaded Custis-Lee mansion where Robert E. Lee raised his family. My friend saw a small blue flame on the slope below, where John F. Kennedy rests. We were not seeing the same things. When we did, our reactions were different.

Later, when I was alone, I walked a little, and rode taxis a little, and saw what I wanted to see. On a side street there was an old unpainted house. I rang the bell and a Chinese lawyer responded. He did not know that he owns the Surratt House, where John Wilkes Booth once reclined on an upstairs bed and hatched out a ridiculous plan to kill a President.

The Riggs Bank building is unimposing. On top of it, a young redheaded announcer named Godfrey broke into tears when a caisson bearing the body of Franklin D. Roosevelt turned the corner of Pennsylvania Avenue onto 15th Street. The granite shaft of the Washington Monument makes me think of how the people of the United States stopped donating money for it when it was partly completed, and twenty years later, Congress reluctantly voted funds to finish the job.

The simple solemn majesty of Lincoln, sitting in bronze among his imperishable words, unable to hear the little children read them off the walls. The Smithsonian Institution, where the Spirit of St. Louis hangs by piano wire in perpetual flight. Lafayette Square, where Lincoln's Secretary of State, William Seward, lay in bed with a broken jaw as an assassin crouched astride him, stabbing and stabbing and stabbing.

The old Senate Well, where statesmen once reduced logic to the irreducible. In 1850, Senator John Calhoun, living a few weeks beyond his time, stood and wagged an admonishing finger at the Northern Senators and intoned: "If you, who represent the stronger portion, cannot agree to settle this question on the broad principle of justice cannot agree to settle this question on the broad principle of justice and duty, say so. And let the states we represent agree to separate and part in peace. If you are unwilling we should part in peace, tell us so and we shall know what to do when you reduce the question to submission or resistance."

The little movie houses where Representative John Kennedy used to take his dates. The Bureau of Engraving and Printing, where they turn out $36,000,000 in crisp currency every day, at a cost of 8/10ths of one cent per bill. The Washington Cathedral, where Admiral George Dewey and Woodrow Wilson are buried. This beautiful structure was begun in 1907, and is still unfinished.

The long boulevards, like spokes coming out of the Capitol, which Pierre L'Enfant convinced George Washington would be "beautiful." Peterson House, the old brick structure, where Lincoln died at 7:22 a. m. The Negroes lining the street in rain, wailing: "If that can happen to him, what is to become of us?"

The little playground where Jacqueline Kennedy used to take her children, and watch them at play. The Pentagon across the Potomac, a concrete doughnut, where 27,000 persons work. The little houses of Georgetown, with their white doors and shiny brass knockers. Cat boats, like timid swans, trying to tack out of the Tidal Basin in a southeasterly breeze.

The glow of the Capitol dome at night, when you're driving into the city by way of New York Avenue. The old Capitol Prison, where Booth's body was buried in quicklime under the flagstones until it was claimed by his brother Edwin. George Washington University, where, a long time ago, I lectured a creative writing class and wished mightily that I knew what I was talking about.

The fish market down at the point, where mounds of oysters and fresh fish lie in open bins. The anchorage where Admiral Ernest J. King, commander of the biggest wartime fleet in history, used to have himself piped aboard a little boat every morning.

The heliport on the south White House lawn, where little Tad Lincoln once played with goats. Union Station and the memory of the train, with no brakes, coming down the track, running across the platform, and coming to a stop inside the waiting room. The burlesque theatre, frequented in past days by medical students from Georgetown, who wanted to study anatomy.

William Graves of the National Geographic, standing beside the Kennedy grave at night, watching PFC. Howard Moore, a Negro from Ocala, Florida, pacing back and forth. Graves asked Moore if he liked the duty. The soldier nodded shyly. "It's quiet and a little lonely sometimes," he murmured, "but it's right somebody should be here."

Secret Of How To Drink And Remain Sober

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Is it possible for a person to drink, enjoy it, stay sober, and not become an alcoholic? Yes, according to Dr. William B. Terhune of New Canaan, Conn., provided he is not already addicted. Once he is, complete abstinence is required because he cannot obtain satisfaction from small amounts of liquor.

There are six categories of alcohol usage and the secret of preventing alcoholism is to recognize and avoid the third, or dependent stage. The first two are the occasional use and regular social drinking. Those who graduate from these stages become alcohol-dependent drinkers. These are the men and women who must drink to have a good time, to enjoy golf or fishing, to conduct business, to overcome feelings of fatigue and worry, and to provide stimulation, relaxation, and sleep. They are on the way to alcoholism when the pattern is continued and becomes a habit.

Dr. Terhune suggests for these people "Ten Commandments to prevent alcoholism:" (1) Never take a drink when you need one. (2) Sip slowly (never gulp) and space your drinks, the second 30 minutes after the first, the third an hour later, and never a fourth. (3) Dilute alcohol; a long weak one is better than on the rocks, straight, or gulping from the bottle.

(4) Keep an accurate and truthful record of the amount and number of snorts taken. (It might surprise you). (5) Never conceal the amount consumed: if anything, exaggerate it. (6) Do not imbibe on an empty stomach. (7) Stop drinking on signal — lunch, dinner, on the way home, celebrating an event, and "to get me through." Substitute a cup of hot strong tea or bowl of bouillon at these times. You will feel better, be a better companion, and enjoy happier evenings. (8) Soak in a hot tub when tired or tense. (9) Never take a drink to escape discomfort, either physical or mental. (10) Never drink in the morning to offset a hangover.

There is nothing like work, rest, exercise, and play to dissipate emotional stress. Walk for hours, if necessary, when you feel the need of a drink.

HUNGRY CHILDHOOD

J. P. D. writes: If a person suffered from malnutrition in childhood, could he be affected psychologically later in life as a result?

REPLY

This is possible. But many of our most successful and aggressive men grew up in poverty and worked hard because they "want no more of it."

HERPES ZOSTER

Mrs. J. S. writes: Is shingles contagious?

REPLY

This is a moot question. In all probability, herpes zoster is mildly contagious. The relationship of this disease to chicken pox is interesting. An adult may develop shingles when exposed to a child with chicken pox, and vice versa.

STOMACH ACID

A. O. writes: Can a person increase hydrochloric acid in the stomach without taking it by mouth?

REPLY

No, provided you do not refer to the consumption of certain foods such as meats that stimulate the acid secreting glands.

NEWBORN WITH CHICKEN POX

R. N. writes: Can a baby be born with chicken pox?

REPLY

Yes, but a more usual occurrence is for the rash to appear about four weeks after birth, if the mother contracted the disease two weeks before delivery.

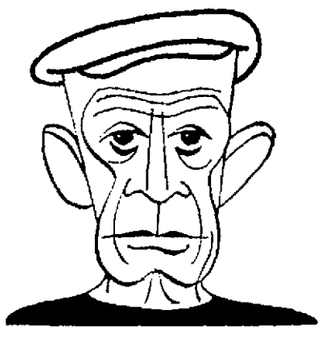
TOMORROW: Developing Flu Vaccines.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of diseases will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

The great Picasso is growing generous in his old age. An American visitor secured an audience with him this summer and raved about everything in sight. Picasso was obviously flattered. Suddenly the American retrieved a crumpled sheet from the wastebasket with an unfinished line drawing on it by the master. Reverently he asked, "Would you consider selling this to me?" "It's nothing," conceded Picasso, "but since you want it, please take it as a token of friendship — for $35,000."



An energetic gentleman spent three days of his vacation riding a bicycle from Chicago to a fishing lodge in Northern Michigan. Arrived at his destination, legweary but still full of beans, he was asked to comment on the relative merits of travel by bicycle and automobile. "Well," he answered, "if you're in a sedan, and you pass in the neighborhood of a skunk, you can roll up the window."

Interesting moment reported from the Columbia Medical School: the dean called in a first-year student to tell him, "Rodgers, you're doing splendidly—but you'll have to learn to write a little less clearly."

Just as there is practically no paper and pencil addition today in our banks and business houses because of adding and other machines, so there was practically no written work in arithmetic in the days of ancient Rome because of the abacus.

North and South consumed several rounds of bidding to reach a four spade contract that was a distinct underdog. It should be pointed out on their behalf, however, that seven of North's 11 points—in hearts and clubs—were a duplication of values. If North had the ace of clubs instead of the king-jack, for example, the odds would be considerably improved. Or, if South's doubleton were in clubs rather than hearts, he would stand a better chance.

West opened the five of hearts and East cashed the king and ace of that suit. From the bidding, it was apparent that declarer had at least 10 cards in spades and diamonds so that, if the defense were to garner a trick in clubs, it must be done at once. East accordingly shifted to a club and was duly rewarded for his analysis when West produced the ace. If East does not lead the suit, declarer can discard his lone club on the queen of hearts.

With the defensive book in, West exited with a heart putting South in dummy. The latter's prospects apparently hinged on picking up both the king of diamonds and the queen of spades, which was something of a long shot. South observed a way to improve the odds slightly before he began his finessing chores.

On the queen of hearts, he discarded his ten of diamonds. He then cashed the king of clubs in order to dispose of the queen of diamonds. This elaborate unblocking was necessitated by the shortage of entries to dummy.

He was now ready to try the diamond finesse and the jack of that suit was put thru successfully. He cashed the king of spades next and finessed his jack on the return. When the jack held and East's queen fell under the ace on the next round, declarer was home.

Observe that, if South does not take both of his discards, choosing instead to repeat the diamond finesse, West will ruff in the second time to defeat the contract.

LaVale School Road Is Opened

An access road into LaVale School has been completed by the Baughman Contracting Company, the Board of Allegany County Commissioners was informed yesterday.

The access was made by extending McHenry Street, which runs parallel to Route 40, to Klosterman Avenue. The latter street, which enters Route 40 across from the LaVale Fire Hall, was widened.

The extension was made after the board was informed that in case of emergency an access road would be needed.

10 West Virginia Counties Launch Tourist Promotion Program

An educational tourist promotion program, "Potomac Highland of West Virginia," was formally organized by ten eastern area counties of the Mountain State at a meeting in Moorefield.

Judge H. Gus Muntzing, Moorefield, was elected president, according to George A. Strickler, area extension agent for the Applachaian Center. Col. George Stover, Romney, is vice president; Mrs. Alma Cowherd, Petersburg, secretary, and Fred Anderson, Keyser, treasurer.

Counties to be covered by the organization are Berkeley, Grant, Hardy, Mineral, Morgan, Jefferson, Hampshire, Pendleton, Pocahontas and Tucker. The aim of representatives is to carry on a tourist development program that will be beneficial not only to the Eastern Panhandle area, but also to all surrounding areas.

The "Potomac Highland of West Virginia" committee is made up of three representatives from each county as follows:

Garrett County Citizens Back School Bond Issue

More than 100 Garrett countians Monday voiced approval of a $350,000 bond issue for new school improvements at both Northern and Southern high schools.

Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendent of schools, said the meeting was well attended despite the cold, snowy weather. No one at the session spoke against the proposal, Mr. Hawkins said.

The meeting was called for parents, county commissioners, state legislators and interested parties in order that school officials could outline the various improvements needed the schools.

Delegates Elza Bray and Elwood Groves stated they would jointly co-sponsor the needed legislation to make the bond issue a reality.

During the meeting, Mr. Hawkins showed how the bond issue could be provided without any increase in local taxes. He explained that in 1948 a total of $2,050,000 was borrowed to build the two high schools and that in 1966 the last payment would be made on $500,000 of that amount; that in 1967 the last payment would be made on $50,000 of the amount, and in 1969 the last payment would be made on $1,500,000 of the amount.

Mr. Hawkins said the needed improvements include vocational shops for both schools, offering three additional areas of vocational training; a new library for Southern High, adequate to serve the needs of 1,300 students; a cafeteria for Northern High and two additional classrooms at Crellin.

Total cost of these proposals is estimated at $450,000 including architect's fees and equipment. Mr. Hawkins said the federal government would provide funds of $100,000 leaving $350,000 to be raised through enactment of legislation for a bond issue.

It was pointed out that the two additional classrooms at Crellin would remove 60 Crellin students from Dennett Road School and mean shifting some Center Street pupils to Dennett Road to reduce oversized classes.

It was also pointed out that the vocational shop facilities are badly needed at each school where at present there is little to offer in the way of vocational training.

W. Kenneth Johns, principal of Southern, termed the education of boys and girls as "The most important industry in the nation. While many plans have been developed to alleviate poverty, the best possible program for the nation is a sound educational program."

Yule Packages Should Be Mailed By December 5

"Please pack parcels solidly," was the request of Postmaster William B. Orndorff yesterday to persons mailing Christmas packages.

Postmaster Orndorff said that December 5 is the suggested deadline for mailing out-of-town packages. "Don't worry about parcels being delivered too early, just mark 'Don't Open Until Christmas' on the front," he stated.

A tightly stuffed package, with nothing rattling around inside, will have less chance of being damaged in transit, he noted.

"When packing a gift, remember that the package you send may be shipped on the bottom of a mail sack and there may be heavier packages on top. Among the relatively few packages that are damaged in transit, improper packaging is the greatest factor," the postmaster cautioned.

Just to be on the safe side, the postmaster suggests that all packages be insured.

He noted that poor packaging and addresses which are either incorrect or not legible are responsible for the non-delivery of about half a million parcels each year. If the return address is incorrect or illegible and the package cannot be returned, it will be saved for 90 days. If unclaimed, the parcel is usually lost to the sender or intended recipient. Such parcels wind up in public auctions held at 15 major post offices across the nation.

All parcels should be addressed on only one side and should also have the address written on the inside of the package in case the exterior wrapping should come off.

County Work Is Completed

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners was told yesterday that the installation of new water and heating pipe systems at Sylvan Retreat and also some plumbing work at the County Infirmary has been completed.

Albert S. Paye, county engineer, told the commissioners that only one part of the overall project remains to be done.

This will be the installation of a separate water line into Sylvan Retreat to service the fire protection system of the institution. This is being done upon the recommendation of Fire Chief Virgil Parker and John E. Trost, fire inspector for the city.

Chief Parker said there are three standpipes at Sylvan Retreat with fire hoses attached.

Not Prosecuted

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI) — Milwaukee County authorities Tuesday decided against prosecuting nurse Mary Ann Miller, 23, Lincoln, Neb., for possession of her illegal tear gas gun.

She used the gun Sunday to rout a burglar from a women's dormitory at Marquette University.

NEW SERIES

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Even before the 1964-65 television season gets under way MGM announces that it will star Patricia Corwley in a new video series for next year — "Please Don't Eat the Daisies."

Popular Farming

BENTON, Ill. (UPI)—District forester Jack Costello reported Tuesday that Christmas tree farming has become so popular in Southern Illinois that new markets may have to be found.

Cattlemen of the Bio Bio region of Chile have discovered that feeding their herds with dry beets leads to better milk and beef production. Healthier and heavier cattle now commands higher prices. The beets are used as a supplement to grazing, hay and other fodder.

City Police Reject Social Security

The Cumberland Police Department has rejected Social Security coverage for the second time in the past six years.

A referendum conducted Monday by the City of Cumberland resulted in 17 not voting, these being counted as "no" in the final tally.

Of the 58 eligible, City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery said yesterday, 23 voted "yes" and 18 "no." The 17 who did not vote and who were counted as negative, raised the final total to 35 against and 23 for.

In June, 1958, policemen and detectives had voted on the question with 60 eligible. There were 55 votes cast then with 31 voting "no" and 24 "yes." Five did not vote in that Social Security referendum.

Mr. Ullery conducted the election at his office Monday. The question on the ballot was "Shall members of the Police Department of the City of Cumberland be covered by the Social Security Act."

A "straw vote" in the Police Department some time ago indicated that a referendum on Social Security was desired by members.

The rule on counting those not voting as negative was made by the Social Security Administration.

Emergency Landing

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (UPI) — Jerry Sirucek, Bloomington, Ind., Tuesday safely landed his single engine light plane on busy Indiana 43 south of here.

Sirucek said he used red beacon lights of radio towers as guideposts for the emergency landing when his plane had engine trouble shortly before dawn.

Narcotics May Lead To Robber

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI) — Police Tuesday were seeking a suspect in the recent robbery of a drug store following the recovery of stolen narcotics with an estimated black market value of from $25,000 to $30,000.

Police said William Sypolt is wanted in connection with the robbery Saturday night of Cohen's Drug Store in the Kanawha City section. They believe Sypolt was the driver of a stolen car which was wrecked early Tuesday following a race with police through Charleston.

The narcotics, along with materials and clothing traced to Sypolt, were found in the car. Police added that Sypolt was wanted for questioning in connection with other crimes.

Police said they were investigating a routine stolen car report when they spotted the vehicle.

According to the report, the driver sped away but crashed the car in downtown Charleston and escaped on foot.

The narcotics, mostly morphine pills, would have a legal retail value of about $500. However, police said they would be worth up to $30,000 on the narcotics blackmarket.

Local Man Faces Alcohol Charge

John R. Leslie, 26, of 311 Polk Street, has been arrested by state and federal law enforcement officers and charged with possession of untaxed alcoholic beverages — home brew.

Leslie was arrested Monday night by Tfc. Bernard J. Chabot, State Police criminal investigator, and H. McLane of Hagerstown, a special agent of the U.S. Alcohol and Tobacco Tax Division. The man was taken to the Allegany County Jail where he was held until he was able to post a $1,000 bond yesterday for his appearance in Trial Magistrate's Court.

Authorities said they made the arrest after receiving complaints that Leslie was supplying the home brew for teenagers.

Fire Damage Set At $75,000

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (UPI) — Damage caused by a fire at a laundry and dry cleaning plant on the city's west side early Tuesday has been estimated at $75,000.

Investigators said the blaze started near an unloading area and spread to ceiling pipes of a gas heater.

The heat caused the pipes to burst, spreading gas throughout the building.

Fire Chief John Gallagher, who was observing his 30th anniversary with the department, called all off-duty firemen to help fight the blaze.

COOK'S TOUR

By JEANNE LESEM

NEW YORK (UPI)—Holiday open house entertaining is a heritage from early Dutch settlers, says the American Institute of Baking.

Hostesses set lavish tables for callers both on Second Christmas, which was the day after the religious holiday, and on New Year's Day.

In the middle of the 19th Century, such entertaining became a calling and courting ritual for bachelors, who were supposed to call on their female acquaintances during the holiday season.

Women gauged the success or failure of their open houses by the number of gentlemen who called, the length of time they stayed, and the quantity of food they ate. Success also was measured by the elaborateness of the table.

Setting a fancy table was an hours consuming chore in that time before the era of convenience foods. Many British homemakers began steaming holiday puddings and baking pies, cakes and other desserts on "Stir-up Sunday", the Sunday before the beginning of Advent.

The nickname was derived from the Collect of the Church of England Book of Common Prayer for that day. The Collect begins: "Stir up, we beseech Thee, O Lord, the wills of Thy faithful people."

Holiday Recipes

Mixes and baker's cakes and pies now can make short work of such preparations. Following are some recipe suggestions from the test kitchens of the American Institute of Baking.

Ricotta cheese Christmas cake has a pound cake base. Divide a 12-ounce pound cake into 12 crosswise slices. Mix 2 cups (1 pound) of ricotta cheese with 1 cup of finely chopped candied fruit. Spread on one side of each cake slices and reassemble them into a loaf. Wrap in foil and refrigerate several hours or overnight.

Just before serving, frost top and sides of loaf with 1 cup of heavy cream, whipped, and sprinkle with ¼ cup of coarsely chopped walnuts or pecans. Small-curd cottage cheese can be substituted if ricotta is not available. Serves 10-12.

Pistachio-lime parfait cake is made with 1 small loaf of angel food cake. Dissolve a 3-ounce package of lime flavored gelatin in 1½ cups of boiling water in a 2-quart container. Add 1 point of pistachio ice cream, 1 spoonful at a time, and stir until melted. Chill until thickened but not set, for about 10-15 minutes. Meantime, slice cake into 4 layers, lengthwise. Place 2 layers on bottom of a 9-inch square cake pan. Pour in slightly thickened gelatin mixture. Chill until completely set.

Top with 2 remaining cake slices. Cut into 8 servings. Top each with equal amounts from a 10-ounce package of sliced frozen strawberries, thawed, and ½ pint of heavy cream, whipped.

A baker's cheesecake is easy to dress up with a frosting of preserves. Count on 2-3rds cup of fruit preserves or marmalade to cover the top of an 8-inch cheesecake, which will make 8-10 servings.

Sherried fruit cake with apricot sauce also is easy to make. Pour 1-3rd cup of sherry over 2 cups of ½-inch fruit cake cubes. Refrigerate at least two hours, turning cubes in wine at least once during that time. Combine ½ cup of apricot nectar with 3 tablespoons of lemon juice, ¼ cup of sugar, 1 tablespoon of cornstarch and a few grains of salt, in a saucepan and cook, stirring constantly, over low heat until clear and thickened. Spoon about 1½ tablespoons of warm or cool sauce over each serving. Makes 4-6 servings.

Secrets Of A Good Stew

If you want to be an expert stew-maker, here are some basic rules from the American Meat Institute.

1. Use any meat desired—beef, veal, lamb or pork—and cut into cubes.
2. Dip meat cubes into seasoned flour and brown in a little hot fat over medium heat. For best results, brown only a few cubes at a time.
3. Add interesting seasonings, such as celery tops, a few whole cloves and a bay leaf. Then add liquid to nearly cover meat.
4. Cover and cook over low heat until meat is nearly tender.
5. Add the desired vegetables and cook until they are done. Favorite choices are peas, green beans, cauliflower, whole kernel corn, lima beans, kidney beans and cabbage.
6. Remove meat and vegetables to a hot platter and thicken liquid with a flour and water paste. Season gravy and pour over meat and vegetables.

Bacon Con Carne

1 onion, chopped fine
½ clove garlic, chopped fine
½ lb. bacon, cut fine
1 can (1 lb.) baked beans
2 med. tomatoes, sliced
1 T soy sauce
1 T tomato puree
1 t chili powder
½ t dried mixed herbs

Gently fry onion and garlic in a little shortening till tender but not browned. Add bacon and cook lightly. Add remaining ingredients and stir well together. Cover pan and cook very gently for ½ hour. Serve in a border of freshly cooked rice. Makes 4 servings.

Early Bird Cookies Lessen Holiday Rush

EARLY BIRD COOKIES—Bake them weeks before Christmas and store in the freezer, then decorate just before the holidays.

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Beat the Christmas rush! Bake your festive holiday cookies early, store them in the freezer and decorate them shortly before you need them.

With the baking accomplished, the cookies will be easy to decorate. To add the topping, brush the cookies with corn syrup and sprinkle with or dip in colored sugar. A youngster in the family will undoubtedly enjoy adding this festive touch. With the light corn syrup turned into a custard cup and a clean paint brush on hand, a small boy or girl can go to work. When it comes to adding the colored sugar, it might be best for small fry to sprinkle rather than to dip!

2½ cups sifted flour
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup butter or margarine
⅔ cup sugar
1 egg
1 teaspoon vanilla

Sift together the flour and salt. Cream the butter and sugar; add egg and vanilla and beat thoroughly. Stir in sifted dry ingredients. Chill about 1 hour or until the dough is easy to handle. Roll out — a portion at a time, if you like — on a prepared pastry cloth or lightly floured board to ⅛-inch thickness. Cut out with cookie cutters in desired shapes. Bake on a buttered cookie sheet in a hot (400 degrees) oven until lightly browned on edges — 6 to 7 minutes. Remove with a wide spatula to wire racks; cool.

The unchilled dough may be put through a cookie press onto ungreased cookie sheets. Bake in a hot (400 degrees) oven until lightly browned on edges — 8 to 10 minutes. Makes about 4 dozen.

To decorate: Brush the tops of the baked cookies with light corn syrup; sprinkle or dip in colored sugar; place on wire racks to dry.

Evening Refreshment

Layer Cake with
Brown Sugar Frosting
Coffee or Tea

Brown Sugar Frosting

2 egg whites
1½ cups firmly packed light brown sugar
Dash of salt
⅓ cup water
1 teaspoon vanilla

In the top of a double broiler, stir together the egg whites, brown sugar, salt and water. Beat with rotary beater (hand or electric) until blended—about 1 minute. Place over boiling water and beat contstantly (use high speed of electric beater) until frosting stands in stiff peaks—this may take 7 minutes. Remove from heat and water. Add vanilla; beat until thick enough to spread—about 1 minute. Makes about 5½ cups—enough to fill and frost 3 round 8-inch layer cakes.

Gingerbread with Applesauce

Zucchini Pickle

2 pounds (about 8 zucchini
Boiling water
¾ teaspoon salt
1 cup each sugar and cider vinegar
½ stick cinnamon
1 small bay leaf
1 teaspoon each whole allspice and whole cloves

Scrub zucchini in cold water; cut a thin slice from each end; slice thin crosswise. Boil zucchini in 1-inch of boiling water with ¼ teaspoon of the salt, covered, just until crisp-tender—3 to 5 minutes; drain. In a saucepan over low heat stir together the remaining ½ teaspoon salt with the sugar and vinegar until sugar dissolves. Tie spices in a bag and add; bring to a boil and simmer 5 minutes. Cover zucchini, in a shallow container, with hot syrup; cover and cool; chill overnight; remove spice bag. Add more salt if desired. To use, drain from pickling syrup; store any leftover in syrup in a covered jar in refrigerator.

Ribs And Beef Kabobs Break Menu Monotony

If your meals tend to become run-of-the-mill this fall and winter, break the monotony with charcoal grilled spareribs and beef kabobs.

For 6 to 8 servings you'll need 3 pounds of meaty spareribs and 1½ pounds of beef sirloin tip cut in 1 inch cubes.

Cut spareribs into individual servings of 2 to 3 ribs each. Place them in a shallow dish. Pour your favorite barbecue sauce over the ribs and allow them to marinate in the refrigerator for 2 to 3 hours. Place ribs on the charcoal grill about 4 inches above the flowing coals. Grill them for 1½ to 2 hours, basting and turning them occasionally.

Beef Kabobs With Bay Leaves

1½ pounds beef sirloin tip, cut in 1 inch cubes
3 tablespoons salad oil
¼ cup lemon juice
1½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoon celery seed
1 bay leaf, crumbled
1 large apple, cored and cut into 9 wedges
12 bay leaves
3 twelve-inch metal skewers

Mix salad oil, lemon juice, salt, pepper, celery seed and 1 crumbled bay leaf. Pour the mixture over meat. Cover and refrigerate from 4 to 6 hours. Thread skewers alternately with beef cubes, bay leaf and apple wedges. Place the kabobs on the grill over glowing wood charcoal briquets. Brush with marinade, and grill about 20 minutes, turning once.

The tantalizing aroma of charcoal barbecued spareribs and beef kabobs will sharpen appetites — so prepare for second helpings.

Creamy Cheese Fudge Is Sweet Gift

Interesting, isn't it, that fudge never seems to get oldfashioned. Now that the season of homemade gifts is at hand, let's try the newest variation on old-time fudge.

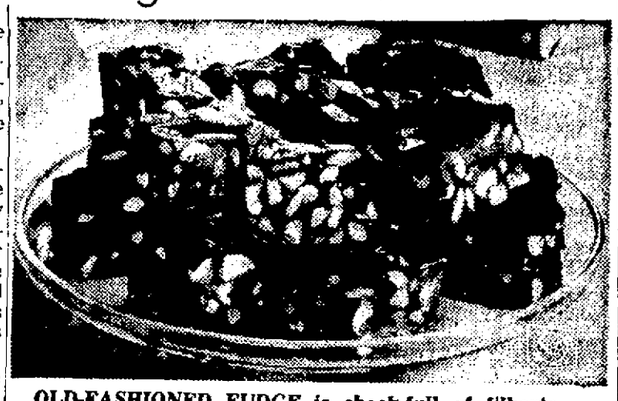
This recipe uses the new unsweetened product for chocolate baking that makes it unnecessary to bother melting chocolate before using in fudge and other chocolate recipes. This fudge recipe is studded with chopped filberts, a sweet nut which always seems appropriate for Christmas recipes.

Before packing the fudge squares in decorated gift boxes, wrap each in a square of plastic wrap.

CREAMY CHEESE FUDGE
(About 1 pound)

1 package (3 oz.) cream cheese, softened
1 tablespoon cream
2 cups unsifted confectioners' sugar
2 packets unsweetened product for chocolate baking
½ teaspoon vanilla
Dash of salt
1 cup chopped filberts

Combine cream cheese and cream; beat until smooth. Gradually beat in sugar. Add unsweetened product for chocolate baking and blend. Stir in vanilla, salt and chopped filberts. Press into a buttered 8x4-inch pan and chill until firm. Cut into squares. Makes about 1 pound.



OLD-FASHIONED FUDGE is chock-full of filberts.

Fresh Dates Are Great

BIG DATE CAKE.—Embellished with fresh dates and walnuts, it's great for a party or for the family.

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Such great things to do with fresh dates!

First we suggest a Big Date Cake to which, along with walnuts, they add their sweet flavor. The following recipe really does produce a big cake, a tube pan size, so there will be plenty to serve to a crowd or to use for a number of family desserts.

Next comes one of our own favorite snacks: toasted cheese and fresh date sandwiches. For these we use homemade-type white or whole-wheat bread with a filling of sliced cheddar cheese and the dates. We flatten the dates before arranging them over the cheese. For the toasting, we like to spread the outside of the sandwiches generously with butter and toast very slowly in a heavy skillet. This way the cheese melts and the bread gets golden brown and crisp.

Have you ever added fresh dates to a fruit compote? We like them cut in strips with a combination of grapefruit and orange sections. They're good, too, with orange sections and fan-shaped wedges of red-skinned apple.

A salad will sometimes benefit from the addition of fresh dates. To accompany baked ham, you might enjoy adding slivered fresh dates and chunks or tidbits of pineapple to salad greens. Toss the combination, if you try it, with a dressing or olive oil, wine vinegar, salt, freshly ground pepper and prepared hot yellow mustard.

Big Date Cake

2 cups fresh dates
1⅓ cups shortening
4 eggs
1½ cups granulated sugar
3 teaspoons vanilla
1 cup finely chopped walnuts
4 cups sifted flour
5 teaspoons baking powder
2 teaspoons salt
2 cups milk
1 cup firmly packed light brown sugar
1 cup orange juice
Confectioners Sugar Frosting, if desired
12 whole pitted fresh dates

Pit the dates and cut into tiny pieces. Beat the shortening with the eggs, granulated sugar and vanilla until thick and light in color. Toss the cut dates and the walnuts with 1 cup of the flour to coat and separate the pieces. Sift together the remaining 3 cups flour, the baking powder and salt; add alternately to the creamed mixture with the milk, mixing well after each addition. Mix in the date-walnut mixture. Turn into a greased 10-inch tube pan. Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven 1 hour and 15 minutes or until a cake tester inserted in the center comes out clean. Cool cake in the pan placed on a wire rack for 15 minutes; turn out on rack.

In a saucepan over low heat, stir together the brown sugar and orange juice until the sugar dissolves; boil for 3 minutes. Spoon this syrup over the cake in 2 or 3 additions while it is cooling. If frosting is used, spoon it over the cake allowing some to drizzle down the sides. Garnish with the whole dates.

Keep Lettuce Fresh

Leftover lettuce? Keep it crisp and tasty, even when repeated refrigerator door openings in hot weather tend to wilt it. Dampen a square of two-ply paper towels and wrap lettuce before putting it in the crisper bin. Today's greens will be fresh for tomorrow's salad.

LAST WORDS—The West German state mint of Baden-Wuerttemberg has issued this coin in commemoration of the first anniversary of John Kennedy's death. It bears the words from the last sentence of the speech he was to present in Dallas on the day of his death.

Eggs A La Maryland

¼ lb. butter or margarine
1 cup light cream
½ teaspoon salt
dash pepper
1 cup flaked fresh crab meat (recommended back fin)
12 eggs beaten
2 Tablespoons finely chopped parsley paprika

Melt butter in skillet. Add cream, salt and pepper. Add crab meat and allow to heat through. Pour eggs into skillet and stir gently until thickened. Do not overcook. Mixture should be soft, moist, and creamy. Sprinkle with parsley and paprika. Serves 4 to 6.

Meat Loaf Topping

An interesting spicy topping for meat loaf uses ¼ cup catsup, 3 tablespoons brown sugar and 2 tablespoons prepared mustard. Spread this mixture over the loaf before baking.

Beef Yorkshire Sandwich

¼ cup shortening
8 slices enriched bread
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon garlic salt
¾ teaspoon pepper
4 cube steaks
3 eggs, well-beaten
1½ cups milk
½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1½ cups all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon salt

Place shortening into an (8-inch) square baking pan and put into a hot oven (450°F.) for ten minutes. Meanwhile, trim crusts from bread. Combine salt, garlic salt and pepper and sprinkle onto cube steaks; place each steak between two slices of bread. Blend eggs, milk and Worcestershire sauce. Sift flour and salt; add to egg mixture, beat until smooth with a rotary beater. Put steak sandwiches into hot baking dish, top Yorkshire pudding mixture. Continue baking in a hot oven (450°F.) for fifteen minutes; reduce heat to 350°F. and bake an additional twenty minutes. Serve immediately.

Yield: 4 servings.

Keyser Water Rate Change Is Announced

KEYSER — The Public Service Commission at Charleston yesterday granted new water and sewer rates for Keyser. They are lower than those sought by the community-owned water plant which serves about 2,700 customers.

Following action by the PSC, the same rates will prevail for customers in town as well as those living outside the city town limits.

A 25 per cent additional charge for those outside the town limits has been dropped. The minimum for a water bill is now $1.95 although the town had sought a $2.25 minimum.

The rates will range from 65 cents for 1,000 gallons of water for the first 5,000 gallons used quarterly to 20 cents for all over 170,000 gallons.

The rates are effective as of yesterday and will remain in effect until a new sewage treatment plant now being constructed on Waxler Road is completed.

Keyser Is Site Of Microwave Phone Terminal

KEYSER — A one-story, reinforced concrete building to house microwave equipment will be constructed here by the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of West Virginia.

C. L. Davis, manager, said the structure will be built on a parcel of ground located at the northeast corner of South Mineral and Carskadon streets in the south end of the city.

The project will cost $325,000 for land, building and equipment.

Mr. Davis explained the unit will be the Keyser terminal for a long distance microwave system between here and Clarksburg, planned to care for increasing long distance calling.

Total cost of the Keyser-Clarksburg microwave project is expected to exceed $1 million.

The system also will serve as the facility for future radio systems and expected education television requirements.

The long distance microwave system was given the go-ahead early in October following approval for $6 million worth of construction and improvement of telephone facilities in West Virginia was given by the C&P board of directors.

County Approves $25,000 Loan For LaVale Sewers

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday approved a $25,000 loan to the LaVale Sanitary Commission to further the engineering work on the interceptor and collecting sewer lines in that suburban community.

Commissioner Louis V. Shinnamon made the request for the loan after telling the board that the LaVale agency needs the money now.

The loan will be repaid out of the bond issue which is to be sold in the near future.

Albert S. Paye, county engineer, told the commissioners that the first phase of the work will probably be started early next year.

When completed the sewage will be transmitted to the City of Cumberland's sewage treatment plant. The city and LaVale have an agreement for the payment for this service.

Later on the Frostburg sewage system will be tied in with the LaVale system and also be treated at the Cumberland plant.

State Income Tax Funds Are Distributed

Allegany, Garrett and Washington counties and Cumberland were among the 11 counties and 65 municipalities in Maryland receiving an advance distribution of state income tax revenue.

The advance is made from the second and third quarter collections of fiscal year 1964-65 that started in July. The tax has been withheld and transmitted to State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein or from payments on declarations of estimated tax.

Allegany County received $149,198.38; Garrett, $19,464.67; Washington, $190,076.32, and Cumberland, $52,228.60.

City Comptroller Paul E. Rodecap said that the city's advance added to a $4,600 payment from delinquent tax bills made by the state gives the city $56,828.60 so far.

The advance payment received is for the second and third quarters of the year, leaving two more to be received in June.

The advance was made possible under a new law passed by the last Legislature. Under that law, cities seeking advances were to make application to the state. In the future, the city should receive this advance at this time under the new law.

Mr. Rodecap said this enables the city to get some use out of money anticipated from the state income tax much sooner than previously when the city had to wait until June.

Last year, the city received a total of $122,337.65 as its share of the state income tax.

He attended the Newark College of Engineering and is an active member of the American Society of Testing Materials.

THE LITTLE WOMAN

"In two weeks we'll have you feeling so young you'll be out screaming for the Beatles."

Finnigan's Hollywood

BY JOSEPH FINNIGAN

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — George Segal is on his way to establishing a first class movie career, a career he describes as "flukey."

A couple of years ago Segal couldn't get much more than an occasional role in a film. He had only appeared in two movies although his television reputation was impressive.

"It all took off with the movie 'Invitation to a Gunfighter,'" he said. "Gunfighter" was a movie Segal did with Yul Brynner about a year ago.

Since then, Segal has been hired for more pictures, his latest being "King Rat," in which he plays a prisoner of the Japanese during World War II.

For the 30-year-old Segal, his sudden success in motion pictures is unexplainable.

"It's so flukey," he said during lunch. "Why did it happen now instead of five years ago? For the first time, I'm being offered scripts, first class things."

Before Hollywood, Segal's background was much the same as that of other actors hoping for success. He worked at different jobs — theater usher, soft drink salesman, janitor — and occasionally acted in off-Broadway stage productions.

It was in one of those productions that 20th Century-Fox studio president Darryl F. Zanuck heard of Segal and hired him for a part in the war film, "The Longest Day."

Segal's arrival in Hollywood is late by some standards. Most big stars have hit the top before reaching 30 years of age. Segal's biggest breaks did not come until he was almost 30.

'Bait And Switch' Warning Issued By Local Chamber

Mail offerings of aluminum siding and carports at low prices are arriving daily at Cumberland area homes from an out-of-state company using a local mailing address, the Chamber of Commerce said yesterday.

Indications are, the Chamber added, that the company is using what is referred to in the trade as "bait and switch." The advertised product is not the one the salesman tries to sell the customer.

The Chamber suggests that before any homeowner buys any large improvement on his home, that he take steps to shop around and compare prices and quality with other dealers.

Legitimate merchants and contractors have no objection to a prospective customer taking his time to compare, the Chamber said.

West Virginia Bows To The Citadel, 75-73

Score Tied 13 Times In Morgantown Tilt

Baumann Makes 23 For Bulldogs; Maphis Collects 13 For WVU

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (UPI) — Guard Herwig Baumann scored 23 points to lead The Citadel to a hard - fought 75-73 win over scrappy West Virginia here Tuesday night in a Southern Conference season opener for both clubs.

The contest was tied up 13 times until the last three minutes when The Citadel went ahead to stay 71-69 on Jim McCurdy's field goal.

The Bulldogs increased their lead 74-69 until West Virginia's Buddy Quertinmont goaled on two straight shots to pull the Mountaineers within a point about 30 seconds from the finish.

But WVU's Gary Shaffer missed a goal from short range and the Bulldogs regained possession, with Dave Muller converting a second of two free throws with three seconds left to give The Citadel its victory margin.

Takes Desperation Shot

WVU called time out at this point and Ricky Ray took a desperation shot from midcourt that hit the rim and bounced away as the gun sounded.

McCurdy followed Baumann with 22 points for The Citadel, followed by Clem Hartley with 11 and Dick Martini with 10.

Bob Camp topped the Mountaineer scoring with 24 points, followed by Quertinmont with 17, Bill Maphis 13 and Shaffer 10.

Baumann's outside shooting made the big difference for the Bulldogs while the Mountaineers had to move in close before they could score. The 6-3 Baumann made 10 of 21 field goal attempts.

Lead In Rebounds

Camp and Maphis led all rebounders with 14 and 12 respectively.

The Citadel, although taking fewer shots than the Mountaineers, shot better, making 26 of 60 goal tries for a 43.3 average while West Virginia made 29 of 70 for a 41.4 average.

Royals Score Over Pistons

Robertson, Lucas Score 49 Points

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind (UPI) — Oscar Robertson and Jerry Lucas led the Cincinnati Royals to an easy 129-107 National Basketball victory over the Detroit Pistons Tuesday night.

The Royals, behind Robertson's 25 points and 24 for Lucas, led at every stop although trailing through the first part of the initial period.

But Jack Twyman hit 8 of 10 buckets in the first 12 minutes to give the Royals a 26-20 lead and they were never headed.

Cincinnati built its margin to 60-40 at the half and led 102-78 going into the final period.

Robertson hit 11 fielders and 3 free throws and was credited with 19 assists. Lucas also grabbed 21 rebounds and 24 points while Twyman hit 23 markers.

Terry Dischinger led the Pistons with 24 points and Don Kojis had 14 for the losers

Player coach Dave De Busschere led the Pistons to an early 18-8 lead before Twyman got hot and gave the Royals the lead.

Shepherd Tops Bees, 107-91

Thompson Gets 33 Against Baltimore

SHEPHERDSTOWN, W. Va. (AP) — Bill Thompson scored 33 points and led Shepherd College to a 107-91 basketball victory over Baltimore University Tuesday night.

The visiting Bees pulled to within 61-58 shortly after halftime before Shepherd steadily increased its winning margin. Thompson sank 11 shots from the field, and 11 of 12 from the foul line.

Jim Cassady paced Baltimore with 24 points and Paul Nicholson added 23.

It was the opening game of the season for Baltimore. Shepherd had lost twice in the West Virginia Warm-up Tournament last week.

Major Players Would Vote For All-Star Team

Club Owners Will Act On Proposals

HOUSTON (UPI)— The major league baseball players association, aiming to present an "improved image" to the fans, voted Tuesday to restore the All-Star game balloting to the players.

Judge Robert Cannon, the players' legal counsellor, and Frank Scott, director of the players' association, said the players' proposals now would be submitted to the club owners for approval.

Under the present set-up, the players themselves vote for the All-Star starters, with the two All-Star managers selecting the remainder of the teams.

Under the new plan, which is the brain-child of Houston Public Relations Director Bill Giles five players at each position would be nominated for the All-Star team by a group made up of baseball writers and representatives of the players association.

The fans then would receive their ballots at the ball park and vote for the players they decided on, then mail their ballots to a central address.

Scott explained the players also voted to work out "a pattern" where they would appear free of charge, if asked to do so by churches, fraternal organizations, YMCA's or YMHA's or Little League organizations.

"The players want to make an honest and sincere effort to improve baseball's image with the public," Scott said. "The players plan to take turns making these appearances.

"People must understand that they can't always have Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris, for example, or Harmon Killebrew or Bob Allison, appear, but they will take turns with the other players."

Lakers Top 76ers, West Rings Up 34

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—The Los Angeles Lakers squandered a 13-point lead in the final period Tuesday night but came from behind to edge the Philadelphia 76ERs, 118-117.

The Lakers, who have won five of their last six games, held a 98-85 advantage in the opening minutes of the final period and appeared headed for an easy victory. However, Philadelphia outscored the Lakers 18-2 to take a 103-100 lead midway through the period.

Jerry West, the game's high scorer with 34 points, and Elgin Baylor, who had 25, then took sole possession of the offense for Los Angeles.

Hetzel's 28 Sparks Win

Davidson Defeats Wake Forest, 95-88

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Fourth-ranked Davidson stormed from 10 points behind in the opening minutes Tuesday night to build up a 17 point lead, then hung on to outlast Wake Forest 95-88 in a ragged basketball opener for both teams.

The winning Wildcats, preseason Southern Conference favorites, lost three starters on personal fouls within three minutes in the closing stages. But their big mid-game cushion enabled them to weather the storm.

Fred Hetzel, 6-foot-8 senior, one of four returning Davidson starters, scored 28 points and got 21-point help from Dick Snyder and 20 from Don Davidson.

The fight was made at 148 pounds, one over the welter limit, but actual weights were not announced.

Michigan Defeats Ball State, 92-70

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — After a slow start, Michigan romped to a 92-70 victory over Ball State Tuesday night in its season basketball opener.

Guard Cazzie Russell of the No. 1-ranked Wolverines led the Michigan attack, scoring 33 points.

The Ball State attack was hampered when center Dave Huth and guards Joe Lanish and Sam Neal fouled out.

Neal led the Cardinals' attack with 22 points before fouling out in the last minute of play.

Chisox Trade Baumann For Schaffer Of Cubs

Yankees May Swap Blanchard For Shaw, O'Dell Of Giants

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

HOUSTON (AP) — The White Sox and Cubs of Chicago swapped players for the first time in their long history Tuesday but another first of more significance may develop at the baseball convention.

The New York Yankees and San Francisco Giants are this close to completing a deal that would send outfielder-catcher Johnny Blanchard to the National League club in exchange for pitchers Billy O'Dell and Bob Shaw.

Should this deal be consummated, it would mark the first time the Yankees and their former New York rivals have actually traded players. The Giants did send Johnny Mize to the Yankees back in 1949 but that was a straight sale.

The trade between the two Chicago clubs sent pitcher Frank Baumann to the Cubs in exchange for catcher Jimmie Schaffer.

Tribe Gets Hinton

Earlier in the day—in the wee hours of the morning—Washington and Cleveland completed a deal that sent outfielder Chuck Hinton to the Indians in exchange for first baseman Bob Chance and infielder-outfielder Woodie Held.

Veteran baseball observers agreed this intraleague trade was bound to help both clubs.

"We think we gave a considerable amount of talent to get one of the finest players in the American League," said Cleveland Manager Birdie Tebbetts. "Chance and Held figure to hit around 30 home runs for Washington but Hinton gives us the right-handed hitting outfielder who can run as well as hit with power.

"We have been trying to get Hinton for three years. We needed a right-handed hitter and he is the best guy available in the country."

Gil Hodges, the manager of the Senators, was just as enthusiastic from his end of the deal.

"We gave up a fine player in Hinton," he said, "but any time you can get two regulars for one, I think you're making an advantageous deal."

Phils Seek Belinsky

Little progress has developed in the Philadelphia Phillies' efforts to acquire southpaw Bo Belinsky from the Los Angeles Angels. A LA spokesman said, however, there was a strong possibility that Belinsky would be traded to a National League club before the close of the meetings but did not venture a prediction on the pitcher's destination.

THREE STRAIGHT

ROME (UPI) — Margaret Smith of Australia became the first person ever to win three straight titles at the Italian tennis championships when she captured the women's singles in 1964.

ERRORLESS

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Outfielder Danny Litwhiler of the Philadelphia Phillies went through the entire 1942 season without making an error.

36 Deer Kills On 4th Day Is Season's Low

Thirty-six bucks were bagged by gunners yesterday in Allegany county as the halfway point was reached in Maryland's eight-day deer season.

Yesterday's total was the low for the current season and increased the four-day total to 671. Last year 734 whitetails were slain during an 8-day season in Allegany county. The county record of 784 for a 7-day season was hung up in 1960.

On opening day last Friday the kill was 333. It dropped to 246 Saturday, 56 Monday and 36 yesterday.

Shipway's at Green Ridge checked 14 deer yesterday, the heaviest scaling 146 pounds. All weighed over 100 pounds but one.

Nine were checked at the LaVale barracks of the Maryland State Police, eight at Hess' Service Station, Oldtown, and five at Jake's Service Station in Westernport where three Garrett county kills also were checked.

Theodore Decatur, who resides in the Baltimore area, bagged the biggest buck checked at Jake's this season. The animal, killed on Dan's Mountain, weighed 170 pounds and had ten points.

Crickets' chirps have surprising carrying power. One cricket barely an inch long sounds a note audible for almost a mile.

Bryant Elated Over Alabama Winning Poll

It's No Accident, Tide Coach Says

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP) — Coach Paul Bryant, elated that his Alabama Crimson Tide was named 1964 national college football champion in the Associated Press final poll, said Tuesday, "my boys set out to be champions from the start."

The jubilant Bryant added: "It's no accident that we are the national champions. These boys came to this school to be champions."

The Tide, with the Southeastern Conference title already wrapped up, heads for a New Year's night engagement with Texas in the Orange Bowl after shouldering aside powerful Arkansas in a close race for the collegiate championship.

A panel of sports writers and broadcasters from coast to coast gave Alabama 34½ first place votes and 515½ points on the basis of 10 points for first place, nine for second, and so on, in The Associated Press poll.

Arkansas won second ranking with 11½ first place votes and 486¼ points.

Notre Dame dipped to third place after occupying the top spot for several weeks. Only six first place votes and 442 points were given Notre Dame after last week's 20-17 upset by Southern California.

"I'm so thankful for them," Bryant said of his players. "They gave more of themselves than any team I have ever coached."

The final Top Ten with first-place votes in parentheses and total points:

1.	Alabama (34½)	515½
2.	Arkansas (11½)	486¼
3.	Notre Dame (6)	442
4.	Michigan (3)	400
5.	Texas	322
6.	Nebraska	225
7.	La. State	202

Notre Dame And Illinois Dominate UPI All-America

Snow Tops Voting; Redman, Sayers And Butkus Repeaters

By LEO H. PETERSEN
UPI Sports Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — Notre Dame and Illinois, with two players each, dominate the United Press International All-America football team selected Wednesday in a nation-wide ballot of sports writers and broadcasters.

The central plain states of America's heartland furnished eight of the 11 players on the all-star eleven.

259 Cast Ballots

Chosen as the finest college players in the land by 259 sports writers and broadcasters were:

Ends — Jack Snow, Notre Dame and Larry Elkins, Baylor.

Tackles—Larry Kramer, Nebraska and Ralph Neely, Oklahoma.

Guards — Rick Redman, Washington and Tommy Nobis, Texas.

Center — Dick Butkus, Illinois.

Backs — John Huarte, Notre Dame; Gale Sayers, Kansas; Jerry Rhome, Tulsa and Jim Grabowski, Illinois.

Redman, Butkus and Sayers are repeaters from the UPI's 1963 All-America team, the first time since World War II years there have been that many repeaters.

Those three and Roger Staubach, the Navy quarterback, were the only juniors on last year's all-star team. Staubach, hobbled by injuries this season, made honorable mention this year.

Neely and Elkins were on the second team in 1963.

Snow Gets Most Votes

Snow, the brilliant Irish end, led the vote getters, being named on 237 of the 259 ballots for a total of 2,847 points. Butkus, the star center and linebacker from Illinois, was named on 230 ballots as he amassed 2,355.

Huarte, the Heisman Memorial Trophy winner, led the voting among the backs, edging out Sayers by 29 points.

The closest race for a first team berth was for the fourth backfield spot for which Grabowski edged out Bob Timberlake of Michigan by only 24 points.

This year's voting was marked by the number of players selected for two or more positions. In those cases the players' positions on the honor teams were determined on the basis of positions for which they received the most number of votes.

Only two juniors were voted on the 1964 team—Nobis and Grabowski.

West Virginia Begins Drills

Prepares For Utes In Liberty Bowl

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (UPI) — West Virginia began light workouts this week in preparation for its fourth bowl appearance in the last 27 years.

West Virginia drills in sweat clothes this week and has two weeks of full practice with equipment before meeting Utah in the sixth annual Liberty Bowl in Atlantic City, Dec. 19.

The Mountaineers lost to Texas Tech 7-6 in the 1937 Sun Bowl and have met Texas Western and Georgia Tech in other bowl encounters.

The Utes, 8-2 and co-champions of the Western Atlantic Conference, are following a similar practice schedule.

He said his team was "excited about the game because it has a lot of intrigue...playing in the first indoor bowl game."

The Utah coach said he was impressed by the WVU team "and I have a lot of respect for them."

Hi Dee Bar Wins, 2-1

Hi Dee Bar defeated Art Blank's Tavern, 2 to 1, last night in an Allegany County Men's Shuffleboard League match here. Eddie Belfoure paced the winners with 19 points and B. Wilson's 17 was high for the visitors.

WHO POPULARIZED THE "T" FORMATION?

By BOB SUDYK

SID LUCKMAN, Chicago Bear quarterback (1939-50), established the "T" formation attack forever in the Bears' 73-0 title game victory over Washington in 1940. It proved to coaches everywhere how the little-used "T" could be used. The formation swept the nation instantly. Luckman was No. 1 in passing in the NFL in '45.

Griffith Stops British Champ In 9th Round

Charnley Outclassed By New York Welter

LONDON (AP) — Welterweight champion Emile Griffith made it two straight for American fighters in England this week by stopping British lightweight king Dave Charnley in the ninth round of a nontitle 10-rounder at Wembley's indoor stadium.

Only one night ago at Manchester, light heavyweight champion Willie Pastrano of Miami retained his title on an 11th round technical knockout of Britain's Terry Downes.

The fight was made at 148 pounds — one over the welterweight limit — but the actual weights of the boxers were not announced. Griffith, a strong welterweight with solid punching power, may have had a 10-pound weight advantage.

The New Yorker outclassed the southpaw all the way and dropped him twice.

Griffith sent Charnley to the canvas for a count of eight in the third round and then battered him down again for a nine-count in the ninth. When the Briton staggered to his feet, referee Frank Wilson of Scotland halted the rout at 1:56.

Hank Greenberg To Get Award

BALTIMORE (AP) — Hank Greenberg will receive a retroactive "Sultan of Swat" award for his slugging feats of the past, the Maryland Professional Baseball Players Association announced Tuesday.

A duplicate of the $200,000 jeweled crown, awarded annually to the current "Sultan of Swat," will be presented to Greenberg at the organization's Tops In Sports banquet Jan. 11.

Greenberg hit 58 home runs in 1938, tying Jimmy Foxx for the most ever hit by a right-handed batter. Greenberg, a member of the Baseball Hall of Fame, drove in 170 runs in 1935 and two years later reached 183 — seven below the all-time high.

The first retroactive award was given last year to Joe DiMaggio.

Staubach And Huarte To Oppose Each Other

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Two Heisman Trophy winning quarterbacks, Roger Staubach of Navy and John Huarte of Notre Dame, will oppose each other Christmas Day in the North-South College All-Star football game in the Orange Bowl.

Staubach, winner of the Heisman award as the nation's outstanding college player of 1963, accepted an invitation Tuesday to play for the South.

Huarte, this year's choice for the Heisman Trophy, was signed Monday.

Coach Wayne Hardin of Navy also accepted an offer to help coach the South team. A second coach will be chosen later. Ara Parseghian of Notre Dame and Paul Dietzel of Army will coach the North.

MacArthur Bowl Won By Notre Dame

Irish To Get Hall Of Fame Award Dec. 8

NEW YORK (AP) — Notre Dame, unbeaten in nine games before losing to Southern California in its finale, was announced Tuesday as winner of the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame's MacArthur Bowl for 1964.

The Irish won over the two top ranking teams of the nation — No. 1 Alabama and No. 2 Arkansas. Both were undefeated. Notre Dame was ranked third in the final Associated Press poll.

The awards committee, headed by Vince Draddy, said its reason for selecting Notre Dame over the two unbeaten conference champions was because the Irish were invincible until the last 95 seconds of the season in playing one of the most challenging intersectional schedules of the year.

Notre Dame will be presented with the trophy at the annual banquet of the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame here Dec. 8.

Butkus, Staubach To Play For East

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Dick Butkus, the Illinois linebacking star, and Roger Staubach, Navy's forward passing artist, were named Tuesday to the East squad for the 40th annual Shrine East-West football game Jan. 2.

Fred Mazurek of Pitt will share the East squad's quarterback work with Staubach, William M. Coffman, the Shrine classic's managing director, said. Both are scrambling runners as well as throwers.

International Trophy Sought By Arnie, Jack

Canada Cup Tests To Start Thursday

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

KAANAPALI, Maui, Hawaii (AP) — Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus are partners in the Canada Cup international golf matches, starting here Thursday, but they'll be watching each other like a pair of jealous jungle cats.

Its an unusual situation. They are teamed against 33 other hand-picked twosomes from throughout the world, but each is on his own in the fight for the individual International Trophy.

It's another plum — the last of the long and hard-fought year — to be plucked in a two-man battle for world golf honors.

Both Palmer and Nicklaus come here from a recent joust at Lafayette, La., where they hooked up in an obscure PGA tour tournament in a stretch battle for the year's money-winning championship. Palmer lost it by $81.13.

Rivals or partners, the two powerful Yankees are heavily favored to give the United States its seventh team victory in the 12-year-old event and its fifth straight.

Americans have won the individual only four times — Ed Furgol in 1955, Ben Hogan in 1956, Sam Snead in 1961 and Nicklaus last year.

CHESTER, W. Va., (AP) — The races at Waterford Park race track were canceled Tuesday because of snow.

Track officials expected the card to be run Wednesday.

Maryland Deer Kills Top 1963

4,618 Are Slain In Three Days

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Maryland hunters are killing deer at a record pace in the firearms season which opened last Friday.

The Game and Inland Fish Department reported Tuesday that kills for the first three days totaled 4,618, compared with 3,806 for all eight days of the regular buck season last year.

In Dorchester County, where the shooting of one doe per hunter is authorized in addition to the statewide limit of one buck, the three-day kill was 1,405. It included 711 bucks, compared with only 340 in eight days last year. In addition hunters have killed 694 does.

Allegany County ranks second with 635 bucks compared with 734 for the entire eight days last year.

Hunting is now expected to tail off throughout the state until the closing rush this weekend. But the all-time record of 4,861 bucks for a firearm season, set in 1960, is almost certain to fall.

Garrett County has had relatively light hunting pressure this year because of the increased posting of land by property owners. State Game Warden Charles S. Milton said about the only place that can be hunted in the far western county is state land.

"If the whole county was hunted heavily, the kill there could be 1,500," Milton said. Garrett has totaled 473 for three days compare with 637 for the full firearms season last year.

Other kills by counties for three days, with 1963 eight-day figure in parentheses, include:

Washington 369 (341), Frederick 196 (178), Carroll 73 (110), Howard 7 (14), Baltimore 84 (80), Harford 172 (includes 139 on federal reservations which are normally listed separately), Anne Arundel 15 (including 9 at Fort Meade).

Prince Georges 6 (15), Charles 134 (149), Calvert 24 (39), St. Marys 14 (12), Cecil 230 (283), Kent 235 (254), caroline 35 (53), Queen Annes 62 (80), Talbot 93 (78), Wicomico 89 (74), Somerset 90 (86), Worcester 198 (186).

Montgomery, where deer may be taken legally only by bow and arrow, has reported no kills during the firearms season. Bowmen are allowed to continue hunting throughout the state during the firearms season.

Although a young cottontail rabbit has only one chance in twenty of reaching its first birthday, it is one of our most common animals.

Bears To Sign Draft Choice Of AFL Chiefs

Gayle Sayers Set Records At Kansas

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Gayle Sayers, the first draft choice of the Kansas City Chiefs of the American Football League will sign a contract with the Chicago Bears, the Chiefs' office reported Tuesday.

The Chiefs' head scout, Don Klosterman, quoted Sayers as saying he "preferred to play in Chicago rather than Kansas City, and there's nothing you can do about it."

Sayers, who set a Big Eight Conference rushing record in his three years at Kansas University, also was a Bears' first round selection in the National Football league draft.

Meanwhile, Buddy Young, writing in his weekly column in the Baltimore News-American, also said Sayers would sign with Chicago.

Young, a former National Football League star, said he had been with Sayers for the past week on behalf of the NFL.

"The National Football League had me talk with him prior to the draft of college players," Young wrote. "I talked with him a week ago Saturday when the (Baltimore) Colts were waiting to play the Rams in Los Angeles."

Young said Kansas City met with Sayers last Tuesday, four days before the college draft, and told him he was their first draft choice.

"There is no doubt in my mind that the American Football League had some kind of a preliminary draft prior to last Saturday," Young wrote.

Young said during his discussions with Sayers they never talked about price or contract, "or anything like that. He still didn't know what team would draft him."

Willie Pastrano Is Voted Boxer Of Year By Writers

Becomes 4th Light Heavy To Capture Award In 26 Years

By JACK CUDDY
UPI Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — Light heavyweight champion Willie Pastrano, the elusive defensive specialist who suddenly turned tiger in his two latest matches, was voted "Fighter of the Year" Tuesday by the Boxing Writers' Association.

At their annual business meeting, the writers awarded dancin' Willie of Miami, Fla., the annual Edward J. Neil plaque, boxing's highest trophy.

Pastrano, 29, was voted the Neil plaque "for achievements in the ring and good conduct outside it" less than 24 hours after he had made his second successful defense of the 175-pound title by stopping Terry Downes of England in the 11th round at Manchester, Eng., Monday night.

In the 26-year history of the fighter-of-the-year award, only three other light heavies won it. They were Billy Conn in 1939, Gus Lesnevich in 1947, and Archie Moore in 1958.

Won Title In 1963

Pastrano won the light-heavy title on a decision over Harold Johnson at Las Vegas, Nev., June 1, 1963, and he made a successful first defense by stopping Gregorio Peralta of Argentina in the sixth round of a thriller at New Orleans, last March 20.

Pastrano attacked in every round against Peralta. But Monday night the "Phantom of the Bayous" couldn't cut loose effectively until the 11th round when it seemed that he was losing his title. Then he tore into former world middleweight champion Downes so tigerishly that Downes was floored twice and was so woozy that the referee stopped the bout at 1:17 of the 11th.

Wins 63 Fights

Pastrano's second straight TKO was his 63rd victory in 83 fights during his 14-year career. Pastrano originally took up boxing as a fat boy in order to pare off the pounds.

Although the writers made their vote unanimous for Willie, others who had been considered for the award were bantamweight champion Eder Jofre, lightweight champion Carlos Ortiz, heavyweight ruler Cassius Clay, and light heavyweight contender Jose Torres.

Pastrano will be presented with the plaque at the writers' annual dinner Jan. 17th.

Pettit, who sufferer' a muscle tear in the lower abdominal wall, was taking jump hots Monday but coach Harry Gallatin held the 6-9 forward out of scrimmage. Gallatin said Pettit's progress Tuesday and Wednesday will determine whether he will see action against the Lakers.

IN THE CIRCUIT COURT FOR ALLEGANY COUNTY, MARYLAND

Chester G. Erichsen, R.F.D. #1, Flintstone, Maryland, Complainant, vs Wanda M. Erichsen, Wiley Ford, West Virginia, Respondent. No. 27493 Equity. Filed: November 19, 1964.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this suit is to procure a decree divorcing the Complainant from the Respondent A VINCULO MATRIMONII.

The Bill states that the parties were married in Cumberland, Maryland, on June 26, 1957; that they lived together until November 14, 1964, that from that time the Respondent has committed adultery and the Complainant has not lived or cohabited with the Respondent since the discovery of said adulteries.

That one child, Timothy L. Erickson was legally adopted; that Complainant has been a resident of Allegany County, Maryland, for one year prior to the filing of this Bill of Complaint, and that Respondent's last known address was Wiley Ford, West Virginia.

It is thereupon, this 19" day of November, 1964, ORDERED by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, that the Complainant causes this Order to be inserted in some newspaper published in Allegany County, Maryland, once a week for four weeks before the 21" day of December, 1964, giving notice to the said Wanda M. Ericksen, absent Respondent, of the object and substance of this Bill and warning her to be and appear in this Court in person or by solicitor on or before the 22" day of January, 1965, and show cause, if any she has, why a decree ought not to be passed as prayed.

GASHING HIM WITH HER BULLWHIP, ISABEL DRIVES PANCHO SCREAMING INTO THE RIVER WITH THE OTHER FLEEING GUERRILLAS.
HELP! PIRANHAS!
MADRE MIA! WHAT HAVE I DONE?

Eastbound Yard Project Set In Merger Plan

Joint Use Of Facilities Slated

The modernization of the eastward yard of the B & O Railroad in Cumberland is included in the proposal of the Baltimore and Ohio and Chesapeake and Ohio railroads for merging the Western Maryland Railway into the system.

Railroad officials testified, in hearings before the Interstate Commerce Commission yesterday, that saving of about $11 million can be realized if the Western Maryland becomes affiliated with the B & O and C & O.

These savings would be effected through coordination of facilities and modernization projects, including a modern freight yard in Cumberland, said Clarence E. Jackman, B & O chief operating officer.

Since the westward yard, hailed as one of the most modern car marshaling facilities in the United State, was completed in 1960 at the cost of some $13,000,000, he was evidently referring to the eastward yard here.

Was Deferred

When the westbound yards were opened, the B & O noted that the eastward yard would be enlarged and modernized later under a program estimated at that time to cost $5,000,000.

The B & O noted that while the eastward facility could not be completed at that time, the westward project would enable it to provide three long receiving tracks and two long dispatching tracks in the eastward yard to facilitate the handling of all scheduled business eastward.

Plans for the completion of the marshaling yard complex were drawn up by the B & O at least five years ago.

Would Cut Taxes

John G. Grimmer Jr., director of taxes for Western Maryland, testified that "we have arrived at a total federal tax reduction of $5,522,600" in a study of proposed coordinated projects among the three railroads.

Mr. Jackman told the ICC examiner that B&O-C&O control of Western Maryland could lead to more than $5.4 million in yearly savings.

Jackman said plans are being completed for a multi-million - dollar, modern, coal - dumping facility at Baltimore. The new facility, he said, would be able to handle easily the coal tonnage of both B&O and Western Maryland, without any additional investment.

Plan Joint Use

G. M. Leilich, Western Maryland vice president for operations, testified his railroad, under coordination, would have the advantage of more modern terminal facilities in Cumberland and Baltimore, the use of B&O and C&O locomotive and car repair shops, and the use in certain areas of B&O's locomotive and car repair shops, and the use in certain areas of B&O's more favorable grades and double-track lines.

William J. Eck, B&O director of purchases and stores, testified that another saving of $150,000 a year could be realized from coordination of purchasing and store departments.

Statements from some 16 shippers supporting the application were received also in the hearing record.

Discuss Financing Of Education

Officers Named For Economic Aid Committee

Six Directors Also Will Serve

An 11-member executive committee and officers of the Economic Opportunity Committee of Allegany County were approved last night at a meeting of the full 31-member committee at the Court House.

Last night's action was in the form of acceptance of recommendations from a five-member steering committee.

County Commissioner Robert Little Ebert was elected president of the committee. Mrs. Gordon L. Bowie was designed as first vice president although she was not originally named to the 31-member committee. The steering committee's recommendation said that she was a most active and interested citizen whose name should be added to the committee. The county commissioners are expected to take the necessary action Friday to add Mrs. Bowie to the committee so she can serve as vice president.

Phillips Elected

Other officers elected last night were Arthur G. Phillips of Lonaconing, second vice president; Mrs. Paul E. Bowman of Luke, secretary, and Denton A. Fuller, treasurer. The six directors are Francis A. Kenney, Mrs. Charles L. Kopp, Josiah Mullenax, T. Donald Shires, Dr. Robert J. Shockley and Miss Ethel Wilderman.

Members of the steering committee which submitted the recommendations last night included Mr. Mullenax, Miss Wilderman, Mr. Kenney, Homer S. Higgins and Robert C. Petersen. This group met for about three hours recently and reached six basic conclusions. One was the recommendations for officers and directors.

"The principal responsibility of the executive committee should be the development of a community action program for Allegany County, detailing the needs and proposed methods of meeting the needs to increase the education, skills and economic environment of those persons in our county who are unable to get or hold regular employment," the steering committee concluded.

Seek Guidance

"In developing said community action program, the executive committee should seek guidance and assistance from all members of the Economic Opportunity Committee, from all agencies and organizations familiar with the problems, from federal and state agencies concerned and from a representative group of the unemployed persons we hope to benefit," another recommendation read.

"The executive committee should be empowered to create sub-committees to study and develop individual programs designed to improve the economic welfare of the unemployed and the underemployed," according to another recommendation.

The other two recommendations involved organizational procedures. The first noted that since incorporation apparently will be necessary to enable this committee to receive and disburse funds under the federal program, it was recommended that five officers and six directors serve as the 11-man executive committee. It also will be necessary to draw up and adopt a constitution and by-laws.

The other recommendation was that authority to be vested in the executive committee should be similar to that given a board of directors. Actions of the executive committee should be reported at each regular meeting of the full committee and approved or disapproved by majority vote of the full committee.

Firemen Find Lost Hunter On Mountain

Silver Spring Man Found At 8 P.M.

A Silver Spring deer hunter, lost yesterday evening on Dan's Mountain in bitter cold weather, was located after volunteer firemen from Midland joined in a search for him.

Harold Scott, about 50, was reported to have injured his leg while walking through the woods. When he was found he was taken to Miners Hospital and later was referred to a physician for treatment.

One of the volunteer firemen said the hunter was located about 8 p. m. near a low place on Dan's Mountain near Dan's Rock.

The man was reported to have gone into the woods yesterday with his brother and another companion. The brother and companion returned to their parked car about 4:30 p. m.

They noticed that Mr. Scott had eaten a snack and apparently had continued in search of a deer. Later on he could not be located, according to firemen, who were called out about shortly before 7 p. m.

After State Police were notified, Tfc. R. W. Andrews was sent to the vicinity of Dan's Mountain to assist the firemen. The "chilled" hunter was reported to have been taken to the hospital in a Jeep owned by one of the firemen.

CUF Agency To Distribute Collection Of 10,000 Toys

The Associated Charities yesterday began setting up Santa's Headquarters at 53 North Liberty Street.

Miss Jeannette Bonig, executive secretary of the CUF agency, said more than 10,000 toys will be in place by tomorrow afternoon.

Open house will be held on Friday and Saturday so friends of the Associated Charities may inspect the multitide of toys which will be distributed for needy children of the area.

Miss Bonig said supply of toys will be especially good this year as it includes many hundreds of toys and Christmas supplies donated by a business firm.

The toys will be given to mothers of needy children by appointment next week.

Mothers will asked to come to the toy center and select at least some of the particular toys their children want to find in their Christmas stockings.

The stocking will have to be oversize, as this year's collection includes many larger toys designed to delight the heart of a youngster.

Many of the toys are used but have been repaired and repainted by Associated Charities workers.

Friendly Suit Settled For $57.50

A so-called friendly suit was filed in Allegany County Circuit Court yesterday along with its out-of-court settlement for $57.50.

The suit was filed in behalf of Linda L. Hull, an infant, by Henry W. Hull and Ethel V. Hull, her parents, guardians and next friends, vs. Robert Donald Wanick.

Linda Hull, who is 15, was a passenger in a motor vehicle owned by Robert K. Shepard and operated by Robert F. Shepard, which was struck by an automobile operated by Warnick, on Elder Street on March 21. The girl was injured in the crash. The settlement was signed by William H. Geppert, attorney for the plaintiffs, and William Walsh, attorney for the defendant.

Winter May Ease Grip On Area Today

Winter is scheduled to relax its grip on Western Maryland just a bit today, but it will still be topcoat weather and snow will probably fly in the mountains.

The weather forecast calls for today to be cloudy and not quite so cold, but the high in the mountains will be in the 20s and snow flurries are possible in high spots.

Garrett County reported another inch of snow over the night and about ¼-inch of new snow fell in the Oakland section yesterday afternoon.

Highways were virtually bare, but motorists were advised to use normal winter caution since there were still some icy spots where the sun could not reach.

Slightly warmer weather is in sight for tomorrow, with a chance for rain in low spots and snow in the mountains.

Skim ice began to form along the banks of area streams yesterday as the temperatures dipped to 8 above in Frostburg, 10 above in Oakland and 18 above on Town Hill.

Will Build Home

Carl A. Redinger, 522 Avondale Avenue, was issued a permit by the City of Cumberland yesterday to build a 1½ story dwelling, with basement garage, at 621 Haddon Avenue. It will be 28 by 36 feet and of brick veneer construction.

Landscaping Of Narrows Is Proposed

The landscaping of the Narrows, the Gateway to the West during Colonial times, will be the next project of the Committee for the Beautification of the Greater Cumberland Area.

Plans of the committee for the development of the landmark were detailed in a letter from Mrs. Lucile Roeder, chairman, in a letter to the Mayor and Council.

She said the committee agreed unanimously at a recent meeting that the landscaping of the approach to the Queen City should be the next project.

The decision, the committee pointed out, was based on the the historical fame of the water gap and the unusual rock formations found there.

Mrs. Roeder said the committee has in mind the development of an area, perhaps located at the foot of Wills Mountain, to which tourists could be invited to drive and view the magnificent landmark.

The committee suggested that colored lights might be erected in connection with a beautification program and that ultimate plans could be made for an information booth at the spot.

Mrs. Roeder said the committee wrote to John D. Bushby, District 6 engineer for the State Roads Commission, requesting "all technical, advisory and financial assistance from the State of Maryland" in connection with beautification of the area.

The committee also cited the possibility that the city might acquire land on both sides of Route 40 in the Narrows in connection with future development of the community.

The committee also asked the Mayor and Council to give serious consideration to the acquisition of Wills Mountain, noting that the industrial site there is in the process of transferral. It noted, however, that any industrial consideration would take preference over such plans.

The Mayor and Council took the proposal under consideration.

Election Ballots Will Be Mailed By Chamber

The ballots included the names of 20 members who were nominated in the direct primary which closed last week. Members are being advised that ballots must be returned by December 8 at midnight.

Nominated for the 10 directorates are John C. Ankeney, Dr. Jack Arch, James Alfred Avirett, Carl O. Belt, William R. Carscaden, Charles S. Catherman, Richard K. Dayton, Henry K. Duke, Robert Little Ebert, George F. Garlitz.

Ward N. Hauger, Lawrence B. Johnston, Roscoe M. McElfish, Bert A. Mason, George B. Newman, William B. Orndorff, Morton W. Peskin, Simon Rosenbaum, Charles S. Steiner and William L. Wilson.

An organizational meeting of new and continuing directors will be scheduled by William H. Oburn, president, shortly after the election is completed.

Mr. Oburn said 124 members cast ballots in the direct primary election and that 215 members received one or more votes.

Whipp, 55, will assume his new duties in mid-January.

He will supervise the extensive activities of the agency in Hawaii and the South Pacific, including the Pacific Seismic Sea Wave Warning System. His wife is the former Thelma R. Bean of Romney.

Skelly Lists Road Projects For Two Weeks

A report on proposed work in the two-week period ending December 11 was submitted to the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday by Harry T. Skelly, county roads supervisor.

Mr. Skelly plans to have county roads workers ditch and widen Bald Knob Road, Williams Road, New Shaft Road, Shaft to Midlothian Road and Klondyke Road. Dust control is projected for part of East Wilson Road.

Special projects for the two-week period include placing culverts for new entrances off county roads, continue inventory of parts and materials at the No. 1 garage, repair box culvert under Fir Tree Lane, renew culvert under Hoffman Hollow Road and brush McKenzie Road.

The county commissioners yesterday approved the appointment of Miss Harriet Haran of Lonaconing on a temporary basis as a stenographer in the county commissioners' ofice. The office has been short-handed since the recent heart attack of James G. Stevenson, clerk to the county commissioners. Mrs. Mildred S. Edmunds, secretary to Mr. Stevenson, has been filling in for him during his illness.

Official word came to the county commissioners yesterday from Andrew Heubeck Jr., secretary to the State Board of Public Works, that the state real estate tax rate in 1965 will be 18 cents on each $100 of assessable property, a 20 per cent increase above the present 15 cent rate.

Bids Are Asked

The Mayor and Council is advertising for bids, to be opened December 21 at 10 a.m., for gasoline, motor oil and lubricants, fuel oil for heating, kerosene and diesel fuel oil.

Fort Hill Pump To Be Installed

The pump is used to lift water from the Fort Hill reservoir into the 500,000 gallon standpipe there.

Condemnation Case Settled; Jury Relieved

For the second successive day, an Allegany County Circuit Court jury yesterday was relieved of its responsibility when a condemnation case was settled after the jurors had visited Dan's Mountain State Park near Lonaconing.

The case was brought by the State Commission of Forests and Parks against James Dewey Buskirk and Rose M. Buskirk, his wife, of Lonaconing. The state sought 12½ acres of the Buskirk's land for expansion of the state park.

Associate Judge Harold E. Naughton, who was presiding at the trial, visited the site along with the jury of eight men and four women. William L. Frazee was foreman of the jury. Deputies of Sheriff Paul C. Haberlein provided the transportation to the scene.

Attorneys in the case were Paul W. Barnett, for the commission, and James S. Getty, for the Buskirks.

A significant point in the case was raised by Mr. Getty, who contended the compensation to which the Buskirks were entitled should include possible royalties which they might receive from coal mined from their land. They did not hold title to the mineral rights of the 12½ acres but were entitled to a royalty of 20 cents per ton for coal mined from the land. The Maryland Court of Appeals never has decided a case on this point.

Judge Naughton did rule early in the condemnation trial that the highest and best use that could be made of the Buskirks' land was coal mining.
